JOE GIBSON . . . superintendent of the Canyon schools, who closes his third successful year as head of the Canyon schools.

J. E. MILLER . . . principal of the Canyon High School has been the "old faithful" of the Canyon schools, ever on the job to look after "his" boys and girls.

Indian Speaker Makes Claims USA Progress

Charles Eagle Plume, an Indian from the Blackfoot tribe, talked to the largest historical banquet ever held in Texas. He praised the organization which had set out preserving history of this region. More than 340 persons were in the college cafeteria for the final gathering of the 34th annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The speaker claimed a lot for the accomplishments of his people. Among the food products, the speaker claimed the development of the Indian Corn; tomato; beans; potatoes; at least 25 of the 32 basic food products which were sorely needed by the Europeans and Americans when the white man came to take over the land.

From a political standpoint, the Indians gave to the world the first Declaration of Independence. George Washington, Jefferson, Payne, Franklin were snobs when they first came to this country, but the Indians showed the way to Justice and Democracy.

Officers elected were: J. Harold Dunn of Amarillo, president; Henry Sears of Hereford, first vice-president; Floyd Stader of Amarillo, second vice-president; Boone McClure, curator of the museum and secretary.

Dr. L. F. Sheffy, retiring president, was in charge of the program and paid high tribute to the work of his assistants who planned the banquet.

A reception had been given in honor of Harold D. Bugbee of Clarendon, for his splendid display of murals which were shown on frontier life in the Panhandle.

Underpass Work Is Progressing

Work on the underpass on Highway 87 is progressing rapidly, according to a report made by the construction crew. The fact that a couple of heavy timbers are missing has not held up construction.

The construction firm has turned the railroad gang loose to straighten out the tracks which will run farther north than the old construction. When this work is completed on the track, the temporary dump over which trains have been run, will be removed.

The construction firm has the contract to remove the section which was torn out to make way for the new underpass. It will be about middle of September before all work has been completed by the construction firm.

Those who have been working on the job have quite a protest coming over the prevailing winds which have slowed down their work during the spring.

"The wind, dust and dirt have been terrible," was the general opinion of crewmen who have been assigned jobs in the Panhandle in recent months.

CC Bi-Weekly Coffee Sessions Begin Tuesday

Each two weeks the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a 30 minute coffee session between 10 and 10:30 a. m. in the American Legion Hall for Canyon merchants. Truett Hull, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the sessions would be used to help further progressive ideas of local merchants. Hull went on to explain that there is need for such sessions in the face of future events. These future events concern the coming Expressway and the new residents it may bring to Canyon.

The Chamber of Commerce is getting behind the coffee sessions and will encourage their continuation. Hull said the discussions at the sessions would center around merchandising ideas and giving the public the things they want. Other progressive ideas such as modernizing buildings and keeping the latest styles of merchandise before the public will be discussed.

Roland Black, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that the coffee sessions would each be planned by some responsible person. The first one is being planned by Chamber of Commerce president Truett Hull. Other persons will be selected to plan the coffee sessions in plenty of time to complete the plans before that particular coffee session is held.

On Saturday Hull said that the Chamber of Commerce had been studying this type of session for several months. In view of the fact that Canyon is a college town and soon to be a terminal on a large Expressway and also provides an excellent place for a desirable residential area, makes it expedient for action along these lines. This action will show up in the future course of the town as a whole.

The first coffee session will be conducted Tuesday morning from 10 until 10:30 a. m. After that they will be scheduled every other Tuesday, so that there will be one each two weeks.

Troop 97 Scouts Honor Guard at Barnhart Funeral

Funeral services for R. W. (Bob) Barnhart were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Baptist Church here. Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery at Amarillo under the direction of Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Home. A flag raising ceremony was performed at the funeral by Roland Black, Bud Parker and Jack Jennings.

There was also an honor guard at the funeral made up of the Boy Scouts of Troop 97. Bobby and Jimmy Barnhart, sons of the deceased, are members of this troop. The Scouts attended the funeral in uniform and formed an honor guard on either side of the pall bearers as they brought the coffin out of the church. They also formed this guard at the cemetery when the coffin was removed for burial.

Before his death, Barnhart was assistant Scoutmaster for Troop 97. Sidney Burgess is Scoutmaster and he stated Saturday that the members of the troop were making up money to replace the Barnhart's Boy Scout equipment that was lost in the fire that took the life of their father. Burgess said both boys lost all their Scout equipment.

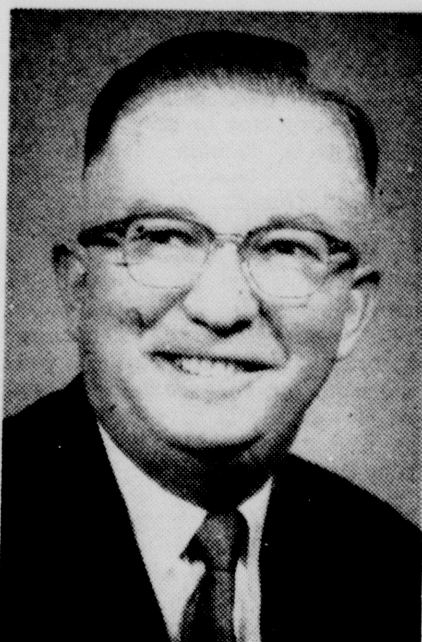

Barnhart died Tuesday morning in a fire that completely destroyed the family home about 27 miles northeast of town. He was a 38 year old veteran of World War II. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Bobby, 13, Jimmy, 12, and Billy Art, 8; one daughter, Terri Lynn, 18 months old; two brothers, James Gordon Barnhart of Long Island, N. Y., and Art Barnhart of Great Lakes, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. L. N. Gardiner of Ogden, Utah, and his mother, Mrs. Mildred Barnhart of Billington, Washington.

More than $2,200 was raised by T. A. Black and Lee Foster in cash and a number of contributions of food and furniture given to the unfortunate family.

On Wednesday Mrs. Bob Rowan returned to Las Cruces, N. M., where she makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Jameson. Mrs. Rowan, the wife of the late Bob Rowan, Sr., who passed away three years ago in Carlsbad, N. M., had been spending a week visiting with relatives in Amarillo, Canyon and Tulia.

Mrs. J. P. Hammons is leaving this week for a short visit with friends and relatives in Berryville, Arkansas.

Rev. Hill To Preach Sermon

REV. LESTER L. HILL . . . to preach the commencement sermon for the Canyon high school closing at the auditorium of the West Texas State College on Sunday night, May 22, at 8:15 o'clock.

Dinner Honors Moore, Goodman

On Thursday evening, May 12, Jean Moore and A. K. Goodman were honor guests at a dinner given by the staff of the West Texas Elementary School and a number of friends who were their colleagues in the West Texas State College Demonstration School.

With the close of this school year the two honorees will sever their connection with the public schools. Miss Moore will go to Sul Ross State College at Alpine where she has been employed to organize a geography department. Mr. Goodman will assume the duties of instructor of Aircraft General at the Amarillo Air Base in June.

Mrs. Novella Goodman Martin, in a spicy and inimitable manner, set the tone for the evening of reminiscing and tall-tale telling with the tales becoming taller by the minute. Uppermost was the note of real friendship, understanding and admiration of both Miss Moore and Mr. Goodman.

As material evidence of their appreciation, the group presented Miss Moore with a piece of luggage, and Mr. Goodman with a Schaeffer pen and pencil set.

Among those participating in the affair, but unable to be present, were President Emeritus and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Miss Anna I. Hibbert, Miss Ruth Lowes, Cecil Briggs, and Hatcher Brown.

VFW Memorial Speaker Named

Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be the speaker for the VFW Memorial Day program and breakfast on the morning of May 30. The program and breakfast will be conducted at the VFW Hall about two miles northwest of town. It is to be a special service to honor our war dead and the gold star mothers of the community.

Plans for the breakfast menu and time of the meal were not immediately decided upon. It was tentatively decided to have bacon and eggs for breakfast and conduct the meal about 7 o'clock but these plans may be changed before the program.

The public is invited to attend the Memorial Day services and special invitations are extended to all Gold Star mothers of the community.

No Word Here Polio Vaccine

Dr. Robert Jarrett, county health officer, stated yesterday that no word had been received as to when the net shipment of polio vaccine would be received.

All children within the prescribed age limits had received the first shot of vaccine, and await the second shot. While it was originally planned to give the second shot the first week in May, Dr. Jarrett expressed the opinion that the second shot will be effective whenever given.

Mesdames G. E. Ballard, Hubert Bandy, Rob Rowan, Mark Foster and J. C. Dowd spent Monday in Tulia visiting with their sister and aunt, Mrs. Murry Evans. Mrs. Evans returned with them to visit relatives in Canyon and Amarillo until Sunday.

Lt. Robert E. O'Donald is home on a 15 day leave. He has been stationed at Killeen, but has been transferred to San Marcos where he will take the pre-flight course.

James W. Miller Is Appointed To Air Academy

James E. Miller, principal of Canyon High School, received the following telegram from Rep. Walter Rogers from Washington, D. C., on Monday of this week: "Your son, James W. Miller, has been selected as a cadet to be enrolled in First Class of the U. S. Air Force Academy, in July 1955. Congratulations."

James graduated from Canyon High School in 1951 with a four year average of 94. He was a member of the National Honor Society for Secondary Schools, played football through his junior year, a member of Who's Who in his junior year, and took an active part in all school activities, serving as president of the band and of the Honor Society in his senior year.

Majoring in mechanical engineering at Texas Tech James is completing his junior year. He has been on the swimming team of Tech for two years.

Senior Day at W.T. To Be Held On Thursday

Initiating activities for the more than 250 candidates for degrees at West Texas State College, will be annual "Senior Day" ceremonies Thursday at 10 a. m. in the Administration Building auditorium.

Capped and gowned graduating seniors will march into the auditorium, escorted individually by members of the junior class. Presiding will be John McClure, San Angelo, president of the senior class, whose short talk will bring a response from the junior president, Jodie Mahan, Quanah.

Mrs. Peggy Bain, soprano from Plainview, will sing, and Fae Marie Beck, Perryton, will play piano selections. A short radio script, written by Henry Eason, Wildorado, will be presented, and taking part will be Eason, Luther G. Hagard, faculty class sponsor, and five seniors. Eason's script is titled "Lucky Tourist."

Special awards to be presented include plaques for the "outstanding senior man and woman," presented by Epsilon Beta fraternity and Pi Omega sorority. A prize of $150 will be presented to a journalism student writing the best essay in a Cabot Carbon Company contest.

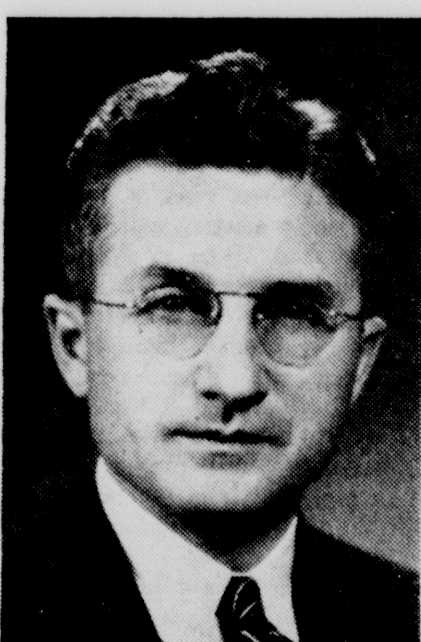

During closing ceremonies, seniors will award their mortar boards to junior "marching mates," signifying the passing of senior responsibilities and privileges.

A picnic at the college farm Thursday afternoon is planned by the class.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Parker, Jr., had as their week-end guests Mrs. Parker's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cole, from Pratt, Kansas.

THE AMITY CLUB meets on Friday, May 20, with Mrs. F. L. Terry at 2:30 p. m.

Prexy Cornette Delivers Address

DR. JAMES P. CORNETTE . . . has been selected as Commencement speaker at the graduating exercises of the Canyon High School in the closing commencement exercises on Thursday, May 26, at the auditorium of West Texas State at 8:15 o'clock.

Varsity Scheduled For Annual Session

The annual struggle between the future varsity and the exes of this year is slated for Friday, May 20, in the new Canyon High School gym.

Fans who come at 6:30 will see the Whites and Purples, intra-squad teams, battle in an opener match before the varsity and exes take the court.

Members of the varsity squad are Charles Neblett, Jon Cross, Melvin Cunningham, Garland Ruthart, Edgar Montgomery, and Arthur Pruett. Opposing the varsity are Bill McBroom, Jimmy Golden, Joe Dickerson, David Brandon, and R. A. Burgess.

In the intra-squad tussle Richard Burgess, Leonard Miller, Dana Wilbanks, C. B. Stone, and John Wheelock will hit the boards for the Whites while Gerald Free, Elston Burkham, Larry Brandon, Harlie Adams, and Tom Wilbanks, will suit up as the Purple five.

No admission charge will be made for this spring-training bout, according to Lynn Hulsey, basketball coach for the A squad.

Negro Choir Will Sing Tonight

An error was made in last week's issue of The Canyon News, setting the date for the "Wings Over Jordan" choir last Wednesday night, instead of this week.

The Negro Choir will sing at the Baptist Church tonight at 8 o'clock. Twelve members of the original 37 voices will be in Canyon for the concert. A free will offering will be taken.

The Choir is sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thompson spent Sunday at Hale Center with her sister, Mrs. E. L. Henderson. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson are here for the summer to look after their farms near that city.

Fund For WW II Dead Memorial Is Nearing Goal

"We are nearing our goal in the Memorial Fund Drive for the World War II dead," said Jack Jennings Saturday. Jack is chairman of the drive and Levi Cole is treasurer. Jennings added that neither he nor Cole had taken time to count the money recently but were sure there was more than $500 collected.

Jack also said, "It is very possible that we can dedicate the Memorial at the same time the park is dedicated even though we were a little late in getting the order out." He explained that at first the park was to be dedicated during the early days of June. Exact date of the dedication service is still not known but it should be some time during the month of June.

Another thing that was mentioned in connection with the memorial is a floodlight which will shine on the Memorial Plaque during the night. This light will be set eight feet from the Memorial and will set on the ground like a stage footlight. At night it will illuminate the plaque and part of the Memorial structure.

The plaque with the names of World War II dead is only a small part of the Memorial. This structure will be 12 feet at the base and sort of stairstep up to a top that is four feet across. The height of the Memorial is six feet. Set in this structure will be the bronze plaque that has already been ordered. The Memorial will set on the northeast corner of the park, the most conspicuous corner and probably the corner that will have the most traffic on it.

25 ROTC Cadets Go to Camp Hood

Some 25 members of the junior military science class of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit at West Texas State College, will attend a "Branch General" summer camp at Ft. Hood. The six weeks training camp opens June 18.

Seven of the nine regular Army staff members will also attend the Fort Hood camp, according to Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics. They are Lt. Col. Edward Dreiss and Capt. Garland R. McSpadden, assistant professors, and Sgts. D. S. Owens, James L. Kelly, Herschel L. F. Stevens, Clyde L. Wheeler, and Jerry L. Johnson. Col. Lumry and Sgt. Robert E. Lewis will remain at WT.

Cadets expecting to participate in the summer camp training are Melvin Ault, Allison; Bobby Bishop, Lefors; Charles Boren, Kerrick; Ray Burrus, Canyon; Richard Coggin, Phillips; Max Crim, Muleshoe; James Crosby, Wellington; David Crossman, Pampa; Lee Gillis, Stratford; Charles Holt, Jr., Amarillo; Wandie Hutson, Tulia.

James A. Morgan, Borger; Lawrence Overcast, Samnorwood; Tommy Overstreet, Vigo Park; Darryl Powell, Pampa; James Quisenberry, Phillips; Eddie Riley, Canyon; Boyd Vaughn, Tulia; Joe Walden, Littlefield; Bobby Weatherly, Wheeler; Robert Wheatley, Amarillo; Boyd Williams, Canadian; Charles Rittenberry, Amarillo; Robert Hunt, Portales, N. M.; and Leslie Reynolds, Spearman.

Rain Follows Showers Here

Canyon received 55 of an inch of moisture last night in a rain which started at 7:30 o'clock. The weather bureau had earlier predicted a tornado near here, but this prediction was cancelled at 6 o'clock.

This was the heaviest rain to fall locally since October 6, and the first rain of May except showers which have fallen at frequent intervals.

W.T. Senior Writes For Publication

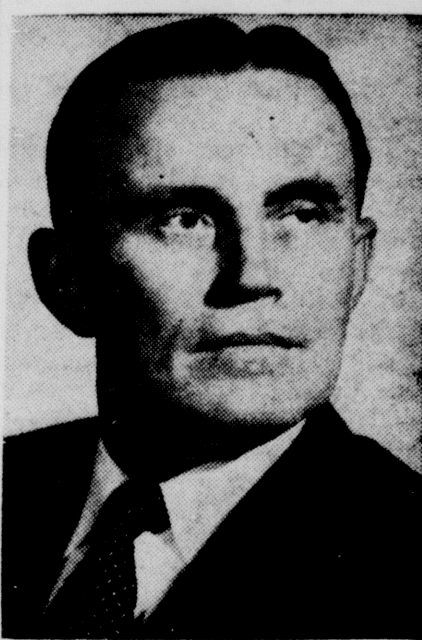

An article describing a simplified method of measuring vapor pressure of either liquids or solids, devised by Sam Colgate, senior chemistry major from Amarillo, and Dr. Roger Whealy, head of the West Texas State College chemistry department, has been accepted for publication.

Colgate, son of Dr. C. E. Colgate, 1514 Rosemont in Amarillo, and Dr. Whealy had worked out the method during the year, and it was used recently in one of the WT senior chemistry laboratories. The article will be published by the Journal of Chemical Education.

A graduating senior, Colgate has been awarded a fellowship for graduate study in chemistry at Oklahoma A&M, where he will enroll in September.

Mrs. Myrtle McLaughlin and Mrs. Charles Stratton attended Friendship Night of the Rebecca Lodge in Hereford Tuesday night.

Oklahoma Prexy To Address WT Grads Sunday

DR. GEORGE CROSS
President of Oklahoma University
The graduation of 258 persons from West Texas State will take place Sunday afternoon, May 22, at the new Field House. Of this number 188 will receive the B.A. degree and 70 their Master's degree.

Dr. George Lynn Cross, president of Oklahoma University since 1944, will be the speaker for the combined Commencement Sermon and Commencement exercises.

Commencement W.T. Set For Sunday p. m.

For the first time, the big field house will be utilized for commencement exercises Sunday, when West Texas State College graduates the largest class in its history. More than 250 candidates are expected to receive degrees, topping the previous high of 248 who were awarded diplomas in the summer of 1951.

Speaker for the services, set at 5 p. m., will be Dr. George L. Cross, president of the University of Oklahoma. Faculty and students will gather for the academic procession about 4:30 p. m. west of the Student Union Building, and the processional into the field house opens the program. Invocation will be given by the Rev. Win Matsler, pastor of the Canyon Christian Church.

Following Dr. Cross' address, the Concert Band, directed by M. J. Newman, will play "An Outdoor Overture" by Aaron Copland. Degrees will be conferred by President James P. Cornette, assisted by Dean Walter H. Juniper and Dr. James L. Russell, graduate dean. Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics, will present Army Reserve commissions to nine graduating ROTC cadets. Singing of Alma Mater, directed by Dr. Houston Bright, and the recessional will conclude the program.

President and Mrs. Cornette will honor graduates and their families from 8 until 10 p. m. Saturday, at a reception at their residence. An informal gathering for students, faculty and families will be held Sunday afternoon preceding commencement in the Student Union Building.

The West Texas State Orchestra, conducted by William O. Latson, will present a short concert Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the Administration Building auditorium. Three movements from Telemann's "Suite for Flute and Strings" opens the program, with Gene Merritt, Amarillo, as flute soloist. The four-movement "Sixth Symphony" by Schubert, will be followed by Rachmaninoff's "Second Concerto for Piano and Orchestra," first movement, featuring Mrs. Patsy Crossman, Pampa, as piano soloist.

Medical Service of Government Again Hit by Hoover Report

"Huge waste" exists in the government medical services.

That is the gist of a new Hoover Commission report to Congress. It finds that there is chaos, lack of coordination and duplication of effort among the various federal health agencies. Too many people, it states, are getting all or part of their medical bills paid for by the taxpayers—these people now number 30,000,000, or close to one-fifth of the entire population. The government is maintaining more facilities than it needs.

The Commission stated further that there should be a change in policy concerning government medical care for veterans whose ailments are not service connected, and that 12 U. S. Health Service general hospitals are not needed and should be closed. It recommended the establishment of a central council to coordinate the 66 federal administrative units of agencies concerned with medical functions of one kind or another.

Estimates say that, if the Commission's recommendations were adopted, net annual savings would run to $300,000,000.

There will, naturally, be differences of opinion as to the steps that should be taken to correct the mess in governmental medical services. But, aside from that, this is one more example of what almost invariably happens when the federal government undertakes welfare activities on a gigantic scale. The best intentions in the world may lie behind the boards and bureaus and agencies which are established. Many dedicated and able men may join the staffs. But bureaucracies always have one thing in common. They want more power, more size, more money—and endlessly. Waste becomes rampant. And the job is done either in an inferior way, or in a far too costly way, or both.

That seems to be the case with much if not most of the government's labors when it steps out of the actual field of "governing" and into the realm of business and professions.

Remember the prices that obtained back in 1925?

Farm Machinery of Today Far Better Than the Olden Days

Each year, at roughly the same time, all the makers of automobiles bring out new models. Minor and major changes alike are extensively advertised, in the hope that motorists will decide after one season that their cars are pretty well out of date and they'd better get aboard the band wagon. And millions of motorists do just that.

The situation is different in the case of tractors and other modern farm machinery. The farmer buys these tools on a basis of need and utility—not because of the attractions of chrome trim and sleek lines. But, like the automobile, farm equipment is also in a steady process of evolution and improvement.

Thirty-odd years ago, for instance, about the sole mechanical power available to farmers were big, ungainly tractors, suitable only for field crop operations on the largest acreages. Now there is power equipment available for practically every agricultural job, including the most specialized. The improvements and the innovations are a testimonial to the vigor and progressive spirit of our competitive farm equipment industry. It is a common practice, incidentally, for the industry to consult with farmers on new ideas, and to test them under practical farming conditions.

All this has a great bearing on the value the farmer gets from his machinery dollar. The cost of equipment has naturally risen as wages and taxes and prices in general have risen. But the machines do more work in less time and with less labor. They require less maintenance and upkeep, if properly cared for. They are safer to use. When everything is added up, the farmer receives more for his money than ever before.

Canadian Bank Pays Tribute To Banks of the Commonwealth

There are 963 weekly newspapers in Canada, with a total circulation of almost 2,500,000. The January issue of a monthly letter issued by the Royal Bank of Canada was devoted entirely to them and their significance. It said: "Singly or taken together these weekly newspapers have a great influence on the thought and action of our people."

"Everybody, in a sense, lives two lives, one in a small and the other in a great circle. He belongs by birth or choice to various intimate groups, like his family, his neighborhood, and his cluster of friends. He is also a member of the whole society of Canada, and he is living within an interdependent system of nations. The weekly newspaper belongs to his intimacy."

The same thing is true of the thousands of United States weekly papers and small-city dailies. They are the running record of the community, and of the individuals, families, enterprises and institutions which created, forged and maintained it.

Independent Car Companies Thriving Under Free System

First-quarter automobile sales figures, just made available, show that the two smaller producers of automobiles have increased 1955 output of automobiles considerably over last year's totals.

This is encouraging because some economists had predicted that the tight competitive race between the Big Three producers might freeze the independents out of the market. While the two independents referred to above have not increased their share of the total automobile market, they have expanded production volume. It appears that they have kept their approximate share of the total market.

Studebaker-Packard, which combined about six months ago, have already built more than 70,000 cars in 1955 and this is almost twice as many as the two companies built in 1954. American Motors (the Nash and Hudson producer) has built over 55,000 cars this year and their production totals are also about double those of 1954. This is encouraging to most Americans who want to see as much competition in the automobile industry as is possible and who want as much choice as the market can offer when they purchase a new flivver.

Warning to amateur stock investors: the market goes down, too.

Newspapers Offer a Promising Career to the Boys and Girls

Newspapers have made their columns generously available in the past few years to voicing the pleas of various vocational interests for new manpower.

The need for more teachers, more nurses, more physicists, more chemists, more engineers, more ministers, more career men in the armed forces has been told. The list could be prolonged considerably. It seems that a variety of special needs has developed at the present time, and many industries and professions are resorting to publicity in an effort to increase the supply of college-trained men and women in those fields.

Like the shoemaker whose children went barefoot, the newspaper business apparently has not used in its own behalf the same educational program it has provided without charge to others. The shortage of trained men and women for news work was pointed out rather sharply by a recent meeting called by the Texas Daily Newspaper Association in Austin.

Conferring with journalism department heads at the Austin meeting, Association officials declared that the supply of professionally trained youngsters now is inadequate to meet replacement needs on Texas newspapers.

It was no news story to the teachers. Recent surveys had shown that most journalism departments and schools have been receiving from two to ten job offers for every graduate they turn out, the past few years.

Reasons for the shortages are not hard to find. As new vocations develop in an age of change, a certain glamor surrounds them, and students aim at those glittering jobs in total disregard of a probable over-supply of manpower. A few other vocations temporarily offer more pay for the beginner, and some students are lured by possible profit into ignoring their lack of talent in a tempting field. Some students are misled by movies and ignorant advisors into thinking that a reporter's job is a rather rakish, only semi-respectable task.

The truth is, of course, that modern news work is a highly responsible as well as highly interesting vocation. It calls for preparation on a professional level, and its rewards are as satisfying as those of the other professions. The job of communicating and interpreting the events of the day is so essential to the functioning of a democracy, and to the operation of our economic and intellectual life, that its importance can hardly be overestimated. In a generation, salaries have tripled and quadrupled.

Choice of careers by young people is a matter which should not be decided hastily on the basis of glamor, recruiting campaigns, or the present wage scales of an ever-changing economy. The only substantial basis of choice is aptitude of the individual. It is easily possible to make a poor engineer of a man who would have been a good Army officer, a poor teacher of one who would have been a good chemist, and a poor radio announcer of one who would have been a successful newspaperman.

For the high school graduate who likes to keep up with what goes on, and likes to express himself by communicating the day's happenings in clear, understandable terms, professional training for a news career is one of the most attractive prospects.

The field is wide open, and the opportunities, as in all professions, are limited only by the ability and energy of the individual.

Remember 1925? Well, Who Wants to Remember All Things?

You could get a new small car for $500. You could get a good cigar for a nickel. And you could buy a reliable watch for one dollar.

Those days are gone, no doubt forever. But there are a few—a very few—commodities in general use which still sell at around the 1925 price.

Gasoline, the oil industry's principal product, is one of them. Exclusive of the taxes, over which the industry has no control, and which are up 250 per cent, gasoline now costs only slightly more than it did in 1925. And, measured by the barometer of performance, it costs substantially less—for two gallons of today's motor fuel do the work that required three in that earlier era.

Various forces have helped to bring this about. For one, consumption is far greater, and the more we use of anything, generally speaking, the cheaper the price. For another, the oil industry has always been a leader in scientific research designed to produce new products, better products, and lower-priced products. And for still another, intense competition—a hallmark of the oil industry—in refining, selling and every other phase of operation.

Very likely that has been the greatest of all the forces. In any line of endeavor, competition is the consumer's best friend.

No one wants to see the wheels of time turned back to 1925 but it is well to stop and listen occasionally as to what goes on around us.

Polio Vaccine Distribution Over World Was Good Deal

President Eisenhower made a splendid gesture of international good will in deciding to make full information on the Salk polio vaccine and the studies connected with it available promptly to the entire world.

The information will be sent to all countries with which this nation carries on diplomatic relations. It also will be made available to the World Health Organization, which is composed of virtually all the countries of the world.

Although more than half the cases of poliomyelitis reported in recent years have been in North America, the disease is an international scourge found on every continent. The Salk vaccine promises its virtual elimination. It will be a boon to all mankind.

Exportation of the vaccine itself has been placed under controls, since the supply that will be available this year will not be sufficient to meet the American demand. However, quantities will be available for export probably next year and officials have said that it might be possible to meet the world-wide demand in 1957.

In the meantime, other nations, armed with the full information, can begin preparing supplies of their own. State Department officials suggest that technical assistance may be supplied to nations lacking the facilities for developing the vaccine.

Advances in medical knowledge always tend quickly to become international in application. However, it is probable that never before has a great scientific discovery been made universally available so quickly and freely.

The President has set a fine example

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower's letters to Russia's Georgi Zhukov are written, down to the little personal touches, by the Department of State. The letters, as well as the replies, are gone over carefully by policy experts.

Ike broke 80 in his golf game with Prime Minister P. Pibulsonggram, of Thailand, beating the visitor by several strokes. The President, of late, has been playing in top form.

Mr. Eisenhower is going to sit out all of the pressures from party politicians to get from him an indication of his attitude toward a second nomination. It seems obvious to the politicians, however, that the President definitely is keeping the door open to a draft.

Governor Goodwin Knight of California appears to be getting the important delegation from that State sewed up under his control. If Eisenhower Republicans in California want to try hard for this delegation, they must have Ike's consent before election of delegates. Unless Eisenhower declares Mr. Knight is expected to be the one getting the delegation.

White House aides say that Mr. Eisenhower's televised news conferences are building the same kind of favorable reaction from the people that the late President Roosevelt's fireside chats developed.

There has been a steady but quiet build-up of U. S. military power in the Western Pacific to assure that any attack by Chinese Communists on Formosa could be met with overwhelming air and naval power. News of this fact has quietly leaked to the Communists.

John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, is giving thought to calling a Big Four meeting on U. S. initiative to offer a plan for unification of Germany. The idea is dawning that maybe now is the time for this country to get on the offensive in the field of foreign policy instead of waiting for the Communists to come up with all of the ideas.

Republican Senators that individuals who are associated with the so-called "conservative" wing of their party are getting only small representation at the President's stag dinners. They say that the guest lists are heavily sprinkled with Democrats and with so-called "liberal" Republicans.

White House aides made many promises to individual Senators on the way tariff-cutting powers would or would not be used, before the Senate voted to extend these powers. Spokesmen assured many a member of Congress that the product of his State would not be jeopardized and that passage of the measure was largely a gesture to countries abroad.

George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, is continuing to insist that Sections 452 and 462 of the Revenue Act be repealed entirely, instead of being amended. These sections, related to accounting practices of corporations, were criticized by the Democrats, and Mr. Humphrey is said to feel that the Treasury should not support them in any form.

The final A-bomb tests in Nevada were delayed until winds would carry radioactive clouds away from some communities that already had about as much radioactivity as Atomic Energy Commission standards allow.

CARE GIFTS TO EGYPT

The largest aid operation ever undertaken by a single agency within one country will be conducted by CARE in Egypt during the next 16 months. A total of 92,000,000 pounds of surplus foods, including 39,000,000 pounds of powdered milk, 22,000,000 pounds of butter oil and 31,000,000 pounds of cheese, have been made available to CARE by the Department of Agriculture. They will be distributed among hospitals, orphanages, schools, health centers, old age homes and similar institutions in Egypt.

The TV repairman was trying to locate the trouble in a friend's set. The six-year-old had watched the whole operation, fascinated. "I'll bet," he said, "if you'd clean out the dead cowboys from the bottom of the set it would work again."

A two-year high is forecast in steel tonnage for April.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Whatever happened to welter-weight wrestlers, anyway? There are only heavyweights these days.

And the new generation of fans who have seen only the giants in action have missed something—the 145-pounders could move with far greater speed. One of the best was Jack Gorman who lived, I believe, in San Angelo. King of the welters was Matty Matsuda, a Jap, of course, who glided with such smoothness that he made every action a picture of grace. He was physical perfection — a statue of living bronze.

Quite different was Dutch Mantell, hailing, as I recall, from Amarillo. Dutch was rough of tactics and rough of features; in fact, his mat - marked map obtained him some "tough guy" assignments in the movies, if memory serves a right.

From all of which you may gather that I have been something of a wrestling follower—and, for that matter, still am.

I recall especially vividly a match which I attended a good many years ago in an open air arena in Fort Worth as one of the thousand or so there to see the gladiators in action. The main match pitted a villain against a noble athlete. The referee could not see any of the villain's dirty work but was always quick to stop the hero if he looked as though he were going to retaliate.

The villain won. There was one irritated fan who, as he was passing the ring on his way out, yelled, "The referee is a rascal; we ought to get the referee." This idle remark, to the great astonishment of the one who had uttered it, brought instant response. From all around there rang out shouts, "That's it! Let's get the so-and-so!"

And it took five policemen with clubs to clear the way for the official to reach the safety of the dressing room. The amazed man who had never dreamed that he would set off a riot meanwhile had tucked his head in his collar and had silently disappeared in the darkness.

For his identity, see the name appearing as the author of this "column."

FAMOUS TEXANS' RECIPES

Glamorous Cattle-Raiser Picks Beef and Kidney Pie

Greer Garson

Fort Worth—Beef & Kidney Pie, a legacy from her native England, wins praise for Texas' most glamorous cattle-raiser, Greer Garson.

The casserole is admired by the celebrated actress's Texas friends almost as much as her prize winning herd of all white beef Shorthorns which she imported from Scotland.

Miss Garson, wife of Dallas oil executive, E. E. Fogelson, exercised her rights to Texas citizenship five years ago when she purchased the small pure-bred Shorthorn herd and began to expand it. Currently, Mrs. Fogelson is engaged in a cross-breeding experimental program with the object of producing a new type of beef.

When asked to name her favorite beef recipe for the Texas Beef Council's "Famous Texan" collection, Miss Garson narrowed it down to three, each expressing her personality. The publishers plan to include all three in the book which is now being compiled.

Rich in taste, delicate in spicing, the following recipe serves six.

Loafers Keep Folks From Paying Way

COLLEGE STATION: A hen that lays 250 eggs a year eats only 25 to 26 pounds of feed more than one that doesn't lay an egg.

That's evidence enough why producers can't afford to feed a non-producer, says E. D. Parnell, professor of poultry husbandry at Texas A. & M. College. A four pound non-laying hen will eat about 56 pounds of feed a year, while the same bird that lays 250 eggs yearly will consume about 81 pounds.

Feed costs make up 60 per cent or more of the total cost of producing eggs, says Parnell. By culling closely, producers can cut feed costs per dozen eggs and help maintain their profits, he adds.

Go along the roost at night with a flashlight and check the health signs of hens in production. Look for enlarged combs and wattles with a bright red color. They feel soft and waxy.

The hen's abdomen should be enlarged, but still soft and pliable. And, her pubic bones should be wide apart, with the vent, loose, moist and dilated. A good layer has loose, soft and pliable skin.

If a bird fails to meet these standards, put her in a crate and examine her again in the daylight. If she doesn't pass the test, cull her.

TROOP 66 REPORTS

On Monday night Troop 66 Boy Scouts of America worked on Tenderfoot, second and first class requirements.

An Order of the Arrow election was held. Bill Dreiss and Bill Cornette were elected but the one who will be made a member will not be known until Summer Camp.

A Court of Honor, originally planned for the 17th of May, will be held May 31.

Carelessness May Cause Registrants To Be Delinquent

Members of the local draft board have submitted the following list of names as being registrants that have failed to keep their draft board advised of a change of address. These men are all classified 111-A for dependency. Because of their neglect in advising their board of their change of address, they could lose this classification and become delinquents.

These registrants with their last known addresses are: Johnson, Asier Clinton, General Delivery, Clovis, N. M.; Gipson, William Ester, Box 636, Canyon; Jackson, Dale Wallace, 805 S.W. 2nd, Oklahoma City, Okla.; McClendon, Buddy Lee, Box 526, Canyon; Dunn, Dan Wilton, Box 87, Muleshoe; Perry, Hiram Leon, Gen. Del., Hereford; Dorris, Glenn Alexander, 1704 1st Ave., Canyon; Welch, Raymond Edward, 1615 6th Ave., Canyon.

Covington, Bobbie Joe, 1544 Lyle, Amarillo; Stowers, Hershel Clayton, 412 Jones, Clovis, N. M.; James, Caudill H., Onida, S. D.; Masias, Julio, Gen. Del., Hereford; Dickson, Marcus Dace, Gen. Del., Wickliff, Ky.; Cheatham, John Frank, Rt. 2, Friona; West, Elmer Burr, 614 Jackson, Amarillo; Brooks, Ernest Lee, Box 22, Hart.

Anyone knowing the address of any of these men please contact Local Board No. 18, Hereford, Box 585 or phone 839.

Three Students in Panel Discussed the British Election

The coming British election was discussed Tuesday at the Rotary Club by three students from the college. The program was in charge of Luther Hagard.

Robert Thompson of Hereford led in the discussion relating the background history of British elections during the past thousand years. There are 625 members of the House of Commons, which are the only members of the law making body to be elected. They are designated by districts rather than by numbers. In early elections the British elected men to Commons when only a few voters comprised a district. Today the votes are taken to a central place where they are well mixed and no candidate can tell the number of votes he receives from each district.

Mrs. Eileen McRae of Amarillo discussed the issues of the campaign. There are two principal parties, Labor and Conservative. Their platforms are very similar. The Laborites are fearful that the Conservatives will lead the nation into war. There has been a boom under the Conservative leadership. A few months ago a poll showed the Conservatives would win; today no one is quite sure.

James Scott of Borger closed the discussion by giving an outline of the candidates in this election. Eden, the Conservative candidate, has had his training under Churchill. He relies strongly on the record that the nation made under Churchill. The Labor party under Bevan is making a long shot gamble. He is the only professional politician in the race and is an outstanding Socialist.

President Frank Morgan announced that the Hereford Rotary Club would join Canyon in sponsoring a foreign student during the summer. Application has been made.

Dr. J. A. Hill was absent with Mrs. Hill being much worse, following a long illness.

The club sent greetings to Tom Knighton, who is nearly ready to leave the hospital bed for home.

Visitors numbered 15, all from Amarillo, and one Junior Rotarian, Don Ray.

Dr. R. A. Neblett was welcomed back to the club following a leave of absence from a long illness.

Raymond Raillard passed the cigars in honor of his new son, born May 5.

ANDERSONS ENTERTAIN AT STORE TUESDAY NIGHT

A demonstration of Frigidaire was shown Tuesday evening at the Anderson Appliance Store by a woman who was factory representative.

A full meal was prepared on the new electric stove and served to about 100 persons who were invited to see the demonstration of the new stove and the new refrigerator.

L. E. Cearley, former grain dealer in Canyon, visited here Monday. Mr. Cearley and family live in Fort Worth. It has been 20 years since he moved away, and he has not returned. However, since he is in the wheat business, he keeps up with affairs in Randall county. "We don't like to see this prolonged drought. Little or no wheat has been raised between here and Fort Worth," he stated.

Canyon visitors this week included Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller from Santa Monica, Calif., who visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus T. Miller, also a brother, Odell Miller. Two brothers in Plainview were also visited and the mother of Mrs. Herman Miller, Mrs. J. N. Cantwell of Silverton.

Alligators are unable to swallow unless completely submerged.

Poultry Plentiful During Month June

COLLEGE STATION: The number of broilers and fryers reaching market age during the month of June is expected to be greater than in several months, keeping a favorite spring-time meat on the plentiful list, says Mae Belle Smith, extension specialist in consumer education. Other abundant meats on the USDA's monthly report include beef, and such fish as canned tuna, halibut and frozen fillets of halibut, ocean perch and cod.

Miss Smith says stocks of fresh and processed lemon products, lemonade concentrate and lemon juice, are at exceptionally high levels.

Oranges and grapefruit are the only other fruits in good supply. Processed products of these citrus fruits are plentiful, too.

Small dried prunes, rice, lard, vegetable fats and oils complete USDA's June list, Miss Smith adds.

Infestation Live Stock Time Here

COLLEGE STATION: Branding, dehorning, castrating and other seasonal livestock jobs may open the way to screw-worm infestations unless effective controls are used.

Stockmen are advised to be on the alert for these costly insects and to treat all fresh wounds on livestock, infested or not.

One application of EQ-335 smear should do the job, says C. F. Garner, extension entomologist. Large wounds may require a second treatment. EQ-335 contains lindane which gives a lasting killing effect.

Apply the smear directly to the wound, then put a small ring around the opening.

Screw-worms increase rapidly once present. If headed off from the start, a lot of trouble and needless loss can be avoided, Garner says.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 1 REPORTS

Girl Scout Troop No. 1 met on Friday, May 13. As part of their homemaker badge, they learned how to darn socks and sew on buttons. Kathy Winstead, president, then called the meeting to order.

Mrs. M. J. Newman and the girls talked about what they should do with the money in the treasury. They decided to give it to the Barnhart fund.

A skating party was planned for Tuesday, May 17, to which the girls were to report at the Scout House at 5 o'clock with a guest and lunch for the guest and the member.

Those present were Jan Brotherton, Kathryn Winstead, Candy Throckmorton, Nancy Cleavinger, Jan Newman, Carolyn Sue Allen, Jacquita Barnard, Dorothy Ann Higdon, Judith K. Wilson, and leaders, Mesdames Newman and W. M. Higdon.

By PRICE DANIEL
U. S. Senator

In record time the Senate passed a three-year extension of the Reciprocity Act last week. The debate lasted only three days. The Senate followed its Finance Committee in strengthening the escape clause and other provisions designed to protect domestic industry and to provide for actual reciprocity in trade rather than a one-way street whereby our markets are flooded with foreign imports for the purpose of additional financial aid to foreign countries.

A special provision was placed in the bill authorizing the President to limit foreign oil imports and other commodities essential to the national defense whenever it is found that they are damaging the domestic industry to the extent of endangering the national security. This is of particular significance with reference to oil, because the President's cabinet advisory committee has already reported that oil imports in excess of the 1954 ratio between imports and domestic production would endanger the national security. Administration officials have assured members of Congress that they will use the authority written into this bill by the Senate Finance Committee to keep foreign oil imports in line with the 1954 ratio.

Excessive Imports Hurt Texas

Excessive oil imports have already damaged the domestic oil industry in our State. Unless imports are restricted, independent producers, who have no foreign oil production, cannot successfully compete with the major companies which own and import foreign oil at less cost than producing it at home. Independent producers form the backbone of the oil industry in our State, and they are entitled to be protected against destruction by foreign oil.

In addition to the independent segment of the industry, our State tax revenues require protection from excessive foreign oil imports. When domestic production is reduced, State tax revenues are reduced. Today oil production is limited to 16 days per month in Texas, and this is due partially to excessive oil imports. We are hopeful that the House will approve the authority to limit oil imports and that the President will enforce it so that this problem will be solved by the importers voluntarily or under the compulsion provided in this bill.

Farm Price Supports

By a vote of 206 to 201, the House last week passed a bill which would restore farm price supports of 90% of parity for the basic commodities. The measure now goes to the Senate Agriculture Committee, which may not complete action on the bill at this session. Some committee members who opposed Secretary Benson's flexible support bill last year think it should have a fair test before returning to rigid supports. However, if farm conditions do not improve, there will be a strong effort in the Senate to agree with the House on restoring 90% of parity.

During the House fight on this bill a standing vote eliminated peanuts as one of the basic commodities. However, this action was reversed by a vote of 215 to 193 just before final passage. The bill as passed by the House includes cotton, wheat, corn, rice, and peanuts as basic commodities.

Business Disaster Loans

Hearings have been held before the Small Business Subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on a bill introduced by Senator Johnson and the writer authorizing the Small Business Administration to make emergency loans to small businesses adversely affected in drought areas. Although it has been argued that the Small Business Administration has had this authority under existing law, the present administrators have taken the position that loans of this type cannot be made without amending the present law. Judge Edgar Taylor of Snyder and Judge Milton Ramsey of Andrews testified before the committee in behalf of the bill.

Rural Electric Co-ops

A large delegation of representatives from Texas rural electric co-ops gave a dinner for the Texas delegation in Congress last week and presented their views on matters pending in Washington. Strong opposition was expressed against recent Hoover Commission recommendations for reorganization and changes in the REA, FIA, and other loan programs. They found pretty solid agreement among the Texas members of Congress that this is no time to increase interest rates and to make loans more difficult for farmers, ranchers, home builders, veterans and small businesses. An effort in this direction under the Administration's "hard money" policy of 1953 proved to be a mistake, and it was soon dropped. The mistake should not be repeated.

DEATH RATE DOWN

New York. — The death rate in the United States in 1954 was among the lowest on record, estimated at only 9.2 per 1,000 persons.

DARE COSTS BOY'S LEG

Omaha, Neb. — Because of a dare by a companion, James D. Gallagher, 12, jumped onto one of the cars of a slow-moving freight train. He slipped and fell under the wheels and his mangled left leg had to be amputated.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Unless something reverses trend, spring of 1955 might well go down as Washington's silliest season.

Report of Attorney General's Committee to study the anti-trust laws appears major contributor to season's silliness. As already pointed out by Rep. Henry Reuss, Wis., 22 of the 60 committee members were corporation lawyers engaged in fighting government on anti-trust matters.

But probably outstanding absurdity was inclusion of Edward F. Howrey, Federal Trade Commission chairman, on committee.

Apparently, even Howrey recognizes the absurdity. In commenting on fact that he signed report which included recommending elimination of antitrust laws, Howrey is quoted "This should not be construed as prejudgment of issues which may come before the commission in individual cases."

Inasmuch as FTC is quasi-judicial body, this is somewhat akin to situation that would exist if judge went on solemn record stating pickpockets do no wrong, then orally assuring everyone this would have no bearing on his trials of pickpockets.

Howrey's appointment was opposed by National Federation of Independent Business on grounds he was actively engaged as lawyer for rubber firm fighting FTC quantity discount rule.

This still to be enforced ruling provides there is reasonable limit to quantity a dealer must take to obtain top discount. Involved is vital principle applicable to many antitrust cases now pending, or certain to arise.

But before Senate confirmation committee, Howrey promised to divorce himself from tire case, and by inference, from any case in which this principle applied. This led Sen. Warren Magnusson, Wash., to remark, "I am afraid you might be on a vacation almost permanently."

It is significant that since Howrey has been serving as chairman, this vital FTC ruling has not been enforced. Now Howrey, FTC head, goes on record as opposing principle involved, same position he took prior to appointment as a rubber corporation attorney.

General Douglas MacArthur was removed from command for much less.

But this is not only evidence of current silliness along the Potomac. Recently, Senators seeking facts about foreign giveaway program, and specifically on a contract that looked dubious, were informed by FOA officials they could not report on how people's money is being spent under orders from their superior, Harold Stassen. Somehow, it appears the American FOA has "lend leased" an Iron Curtain from the Soviet GPU.

Besides being head of "operation giveaway," Stassen is now also filling a specially created job to promote disarmament and world peace.

With this act of censorship in mind, some observers express hope Stassen's first official act as peace promoter will not be clamping rigid censorship down on age old expression "Peace on earth and goodwill to men." It is somehow felt there must be some limitations on bureaucrats.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson as Senate majority leader.

He stated that he had started negotiations with U. S. Interior Secretary McKay, looking to the solution of technical problems involving control of tidelands oil and gas leasing — and he expressed the opinion that Texas' tideland problems were more technical than legal.

Shivers may ask the Legislature to set up a state control over the distribution of polio vaccine. His decision will follow a conference with Dr. Henry Holle, state commissioner of health.

One of Shivers' first visitors on his return from Washington was 12-year-old Bernard Andrews. He is spelling champion of the Negro elementary schools of Houston.

Young Andrews told the Governor and Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston that the hardest word he had to spell in winning the championship and a trip to Austin by aeroplane was "zephyr."

Park Bill Passes

Ready for Governor Shivers' signature is the long fought parks bill.

Jointly sponsored by Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston and Sen. Carlos Ashley of Llano, the measure provides for $25,000,000 worth of bonds to build tourist accommodations in state parks.

It calls for the erection of lodges at Inks Lake in Central Texas, Eisenhower State Park on Lake Texhoma, and Atlanta State Park on Lake Texarkana.

Scheduled for construction first is a 101 unit resort hotel and lodges on Roy Inks Lake, to cost approximately $1,000,000.

Later construction would be at Possum Kingdom Lake, Lake Whitney, and Falcon Reservoir.

The entire program is self-liquidating.

Loopholes in the veterans land program will be plugged if bills by Rep. Dolph Briscoe and Rep. Buckshot Lane meet with Senate approval.

These two House-passed measures would set up stiff requirements and regulations for land purchases and place full responsibility for administration of the program on the shoulders of the chairman of the Veterans Land Board.

Land Records

Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder says there have been no changes in the minutes of the veterans land board.

At the April 27 meeting of the board, Governor Shivers and Attorney General Shepperd released affidavits saying that the minutes of 80 previous sessions contained gross mistakes — and Shepperd moved that notations be made showing that the minutes had been corrected.

"You can read the original minutes just as they were written in the record," Rudder told the House special investigating committee.

JUST BECAUSE

A young man took his grandmother to the pictures. After ten minutes, the old lady wanted to go out.

"The seat's so uncomfortable," she complained.

"No wonder," he exclaimed, "you haven't turned it down."

SUCCESS and HAPPINESS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN: Right down to the wire, the Legislature fought out the battle of taxation.

Pay of the legislators — $25 per day — stopped May 10. So there was all the more reason, from their point of view, that the toughest, most complex and controversial problem of the session be solved as soon as possible.

First, the House passed a tax bill, increasing or putting new levies on gasoline, cigarettes, snuff, tobacco, natural gas, trading stamps, uranium, and wine and beer dealers.

When this bill went to the Senate, amendments were introduced to tax auto storage and parking lots, jewelry, furs and clothing, storage warehouses, airlines, real estate brokers, chemical manufacturers, hotels, tourist lodges, department stores, and chain stores.

Committee Hearings

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman, chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee, scheduled hearings almost as fast as amendments were introduced.

First witness was E. H. Thornton, Jr., chairman of the State Highway Commission. He asked that the state tax on gasoline be set at six cents per gallon, instead of the present four cents. (The House bill increased the gasoline tax to five cents.)

Gov. Allan Shivers had advocated a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax to provide for the state's highway needs.

He continues to express the hope that there will be no income or sales tax.

That the Legislators will complete the tax bill and adjourn within two weeks is Shivers' guess.

Big question is whether the House will accept what the Senate does — especially if it changes the gas levy.

Political Aspect

While they were discharging their legislative duties, some members were thinking seriously about the political campaigns of a year hence.

Mentioned often as potential candidates for Governor have been John Ben Shepperd, U. S. Sen. Price Daniel, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Sen. Jimmy Phillips.

But a new face entered the picture this week when Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin was approached by friends who urged him to give serious consideration to the race for Governor in 1956.

Shivers Returns

Gov. Allan Shivers brought much news back with him from Washington.

In a long press conference he made the flat assertion that the Democratic Party cannot nominate another left-wing candidate and win.

He repeated that he did not intend to support Adlai Stevenson as the nominee for President next year.

He praised the work of U. S.

LIPSTICK LOGIC
BY LOUISE ALLEN

Men who think their womenfolk spend money carelessly should sit for a few hours in the shoe department of any good store. They'd be astounded at what careful buyers women can be.

The other day we visited one, looking for house slippers. The place was full of women shoppers in all sizes, shapes and ages, each bent on buying a new pair of shoes but in no hurry to complete the deal.

One woman wanted sandals — or so we judged. It was a guessing game for the clerk, who brought out many different colors and styles. About one in three she would try on. The others were dismissed with "I don't like that one."

Our attention was distracted for a few minutes by a mother-daughter combination, obviously prosperous, who eyed each shoe brought out with sheer delight at its grace, novelty or cut. They wanted to see everything pretty in the store.

When we looked back the first woman was gone. "Did she buy any?" we asked the clerk as he gathered up armloads of boxes to return to their shelves. "We didn't have much to show her," he evaded — a gentleman to the last.

A plump little girl of 12 was buying her mother a gift. She pointed out a shoe she thought would be right, gave her mother's color and size. Trying to imitate the grownups, she examined it carefully for a minute or so. She was the only quick shopper we saw that day, but no doubt on Monday Mama was back to make the clerk dig for his sale.

Once woman expressed her vanity with hats. Today it is much more likely to be footwear. But the father or spouse who thinks she buys carelessly would be reassured by a visit in "Shoes."

Warm Weather Brings Crop Of Insects

Flowers and leaves are not the only things that pop out when the weather warms up. Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer, says you can expect flies, mosquitoes, chiggers, ants and spiders; if not at home certainly the first time you go on a picnic.

The mosquito is a famous carrier of malaria. It's eradication, both because of the discomfort of bites and because the bites spread disease, is advisable. Mosquito bites itch intensely, and the more you

If you're in the livestock business, this is the time to start looking for that summer pasture.

Pasture is the cheapest feed a stockman can use and Texans are doing something about providing grazing during the hot summer months.

In many areas, sudan grass is an old standby and it's still the best bet for temporary summer grazing.

If irrigation is available, many stockmen would be wise to look into the possibilities of raising some temporary pasture under irrigation. It's paying off in many sections of Texas.

The U. S. cattle population, at a high figure, reflects an increase which has been recorded over the whole world.

For the eighth time in a row, the world cattle population increased. Total figure is estimated at 877 million, with 1954 showing an increase of 1 per cent over 1953.

They're using a lot of water on the High Plains of Texas. This area used 69 per cent of the 7,000,000 acre feet pumped in 1953 and probably showed an increase in 1954, the U. S. Geological Survey reports.

Cotton, grain sorghums and other cash crops are produced under irrigation in that area.

A new piece of Texas Beef Council literature is out — a recipe folder giving the 8 top prize-winning recipes in the Council's recent state-wide recipe contest. They'll be available on request through your grocer.

The source of milk used in Greece will surprise most Texans.

Of the 1,841,000 pounds produced in that country last year, more than 682 million pounds came from sheep. Cows produced 587,500,000 pounds and even buffalo got into the milk production picture, producing 57.5 million pounds.

The Greeks put a lot of their milk into yogurt, the health food which became popular in this country some years ago.

Wheat farmers will vote July 15 on whether they want to operate under acreage controls next year to be assured of the maximum in government price supports.

There is talk from wheat growing areas over the nation that many farmers will vote against marketing quotas and that there is a chance that the proposition will be voted down.

Livestock men in drought-designated areas probably will be able to receive government feed assistance as long as they need it.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson on a recent Southwestern trip said the aid would be extended in areas where need is shown.

The Texas Drought Committee is expected to ask for an extension of the program in the state.

scratch them the more they itch. The itching can be lessened if you wash the spots with soap and water or alcohol, and then apply a soothing lotion.

Around the yard and on the farm mosquitoes breed in puddles of water by the roadside, in water that accumulates in furrows, in gardens, in street gutters and sagging house gutters. And they'll make their home in an old can, flower pot, bottle, or any other place where water is standing. After a rain is a good time to look around the yard and empty water out of any containers you find.

Such diseases as typhoid fever, tuberculosis and dysentery are known to have been spread by flies. It is important to protect the whole community from flies and for everyone to take measures to get rid of them.

At home, put garbage in a metal, leak-proof can with a tight-fitting lid. Flies breed in filth and the food they find in and around garbage cans. If they get into the house, they will carry germs to your food, and even to nursing bottles and the mouths of babies. Good window screens and doors will keep flies outside if you teach your children to close the doors quickly when they come in or go out. The yard, chicken house, stables, and other likely breeding places should always be kept clean so that flies cannot find food and want to stay around. Clean, sanitary homes, alleys, and places of business do not attract flies.

Chigger bites are more troublesome than mosquito bites. If you take a bath after you have been exposed to them, you will wash off most of the larvae before they burrow into the skin. Sulphur dusted on the legs and ankles will prevent many bites.

EXPERT NOT SO EXPERT

Pratt, Kansas. — Introduced to the members of the Knife and Fork Club recently as a memory expert, a visitor delighted the audience by recalling first, and last names of all the men he had met. However, a few days later, the club secretary, Herman Unruh, received a letter from George Bailey, the expert, stating that Bailey had forgotten his hat — couldn't remember where he had left it.

Pearson of Canada says the West cannot buy Asia.

"If I Should Die" Without a Will?

What will happen if you should die without executing a legal and proper will? Who will inherit your property? Your husband, wife, mother, father, children, your wife's relatives? The best way you can say who will have it is to provide a will which will protect your rightful beneficiaries and dispose of your property in accordance with your wishes.

When a deceased has no will, or dies "intestate" as the law calls it, the property of that person is distributed according to a detailed formula fixed by law. In some cases this may be the way you yourself would divide it—but in many cases it is not.

The provisions of the law concerning the distribution of the property of a person who dies without a will are rather complicated, and all of the possibilities cannot be covered by a general statement.

There are different rules for real estate and for personal property, for community property and for separate property, for homestead property, and for all of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of the property.

For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on wills and related matters has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, merely print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Colorado at Fifteenth, Austin 1, Texas.

Dr. Lee Johnson To Be Honored at Reception Monday

Personal and professional friends, and business students of Dr. Lee L. Johnson, professor and chairman of the School of Business and Public Administration at West Texas State College, will honor the educator Monday at a reception at the home of WT President and Mrs. James P. Cornette.

Dr. Johnson, who has been chairman of the school of business since 1939 and associated with the college for 32 years, will retire at the end of the first summer term. He will more actively participate in the Estate Life Insurance Company in Amarillo, becoming head of the estate and trust division and home office manager.

The reception will be from 7 until 10 p. m. and in the receiving line will be Dr. and Mrs. Cornette, Dr. J. A. Hill, WT president emeritus, and Dr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. A. B. Holt, Mrs. James Johnson, and Mrs. A. K. Goodman. Hostesses are Mrs. W. F. Haggard, Mrs. T. B. McCarter, Miss Jean Moore, Miss Lucy Mae Varnell, Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. Virginia Allen, Mrs. W. Mitchell Jones, Mrs. Virgil Henson, Dr. Hattie M. Anderson, and Mrs. Charles Harter.

Members of Phi Gamma Nu, national business sorority at WT, will assist the hostesses.

Canyon FFA Dairy Team Places Sixth In State Contest

Canyon FFA Dairy Cattle Judging team placed sixth in the State of Texas at the State Judging Contest held at Texas A & M College in Bryan last Saturday, May 14.

The top 10% in the state may participate. There are over 950 departments of vocational agriculture in the state.

Canyon's winning team was composed of Garland Ruthart, Joe Carver, Glenn Truck, Richard Irvine was alternate.

This team recently placed second in district, fifth at Plainview, and first at Texas Tech with 93 teams competing and now have placed sixth in the state.

T. L. Devin, head of the vocational department at Canyon High School, carried the boys to the state contest because Waylon Carroll, their coach, was in Colorado on the senior trip.

Delicious Cinnamon Bread Spices Winter-Weary Appetites

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

WITH spring in the air, treat your appetite to a change. A new dish, a new bread—anything to freshen up the menu—that's what most of us want. So try this really delicious cinnamon bread. You'll enjoy it.

Cinnamon Bread

One cup milk, 1/4 cup margarine or butter, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast); 1 package or cake of yeast, active dry or compressed, 1 egg, beaten; 4 1/2 cups sifted, enriched flour.

Scald milk. Stir in margarine or butter, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast).

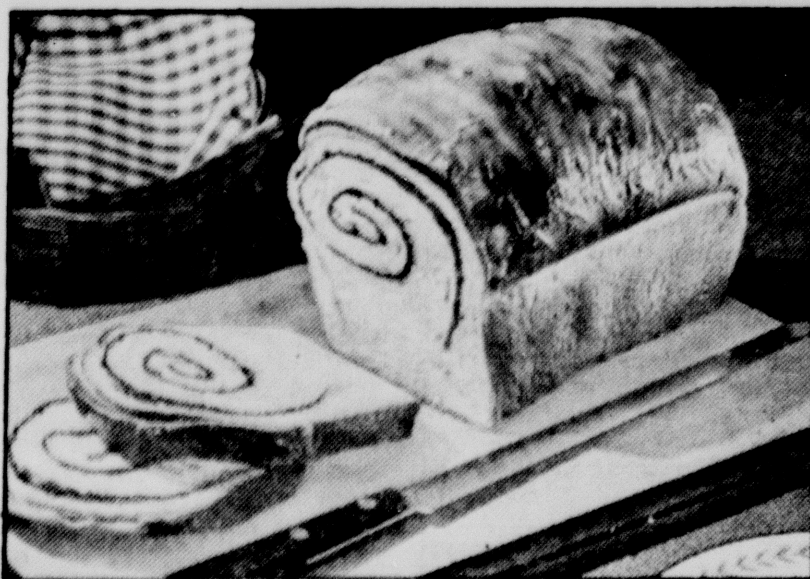

Sprinkle or crumble-in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture and beaten egg. Add sifted flour and stir until mixed.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board and knead 8 to 10 minutes, or until dough is smooth and elastic, and does not stick to the board. Place in a greased bowl and brush top lightly with melted shortening. Cover with a cloth.

Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Punch dough down and turn out on lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Roll each half into an oblong about 8 x 10 inches.

Brush lightly with melted margarine or butter. Sprinkle with half of cinnamon mixture. Roll up tightly, as for jelly roll. Seal edges by pinching together firmly. Place sealed side down in greased bread pan 8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches.

Brush top with melted margarine or butter. Cover with a cloth and let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 65 minutes.

Bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) 40 to 50 minutes. Ice top while hot with Plain Icing.

Cinnamon Mixture

One-half cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cinnamon. Mix together sugar and cinnamon.

Plain Icing

One-half cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 teaspoons milk, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract. Combine ingredients and beat until smooth.

Marchant Gets Third Summer's Work in Insurance

A fellowship to study actively in the field of insurance has been awarded for the third summer to Zeke Marchant, instructor in business administration at West Texas State College.

Marchant has been granted an award by the Foundation for Economic Research for a month's study with the Employers Casualty Company in Dallas. The award is one of several sponsored by the foundation for teachers of finance and economics.

Accounting procedures, rate-making, underwriting, claims and premium accounting methods will be observed by Marchant, with most of his work dealing with the automobile insurance field. He will also attend night classes in life underwriting. Marchant will be in Dallas June 13 until July 9, when he will return to WT to teach the second term of the summer session.

Fellowships through the American Association of University Teachers of Insurance were held in the summers of 1952 and 1953 by Marchant. He studied for six weeks period in the offices of the Southwestern Life Insurance Company in Dallas and the Great Southern Life Insurance Company in Houston.

TO GIVE BOOK REVIEW

Mrs. Lee Foster, West Texas State graduate student from Canyon, will review the novel, "Love Is Eternal," at the annual "boss night" dinner of the Amarillo Educational Secretaries Association Monday night. The 7 p. m. affair will be held in Amarillo's Buchanan Street Methodist Church.

Warm Weather Is Hard Egg Producers

COLLEGE STATION: Warmer weather can put egg quality on the skids unless producers take a few precautions, warns F. Z. Bean, blossom, extension poultry marketing specialist.

High temperatures and low humidity are two of the greatest enemies of good egg quality. For producers who sell on grade, a drop in quality means lower prices. Sold ungraded, a drop in quality means decreased consumer demand.

Keep the eggs clean, Beanblossom says. Use clean, dry nesting materials and keep the birds confined on wet days to avoid mud-tracked nests.

Step up the number of times each day eggs are gathered, preferably to two or three times daily. A wire basket allows air to circulate quickly, carrying off the heat.

Store eggs in a cool, humid but well ventilated place. And market regularly and frequently. Beanblossom points out that Grade AA eggs become inedible in three days at 98 degrees, but usually will remain Grade A for about six months if held just above freezing.

MRS. HENDERSON HOSTESS TO PLEASANTVIEW H. D. CLUB

Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Roy Henderson as hostess.

Mrs. John Jennings, president, called the meeting to order and led the group in The Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Earl Burtz gave a report on the program held recently in the Farm Bureau building in which Miss Millie Bennett of Stratford and student at West Texas State, gave a talk and showed slides on farming in Germany. Miss Bennett had made these slides while she was on exchange for a season to study living conditions in other countries.

"Early Settlement" was the program. Mrs. Brigham Howell and Mrs. Jennings very interestingly presented the program.

At the social hour refreshments of angel food cake and coffee were served to Mesdames E. L. Cranmer, Clifford Burtz, Ray Welch, Cristler Crain, Blaine Hufnagle, Earl Burtz, Jennings, Howell, R. A. Hodges, Clifford Prichard and the hostess.

GUILD PLANS DINNER MEETING

All Saints Episcopal Guild met Thursday May 12, in the Little House of Fellowship.

The meeting was opened with The Lord's Prayer. The entire evening was spent working on the interior of the piece of worship.

Tentative plans were made for the Guild's traditional dinner meeting which will be held in Amarillo the last part of the month.

More Than Sixty Poultry Diseases Treated at A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION: More than 60 diseases of poultry have been diagnosed by research scientists in Texas during the past two years.

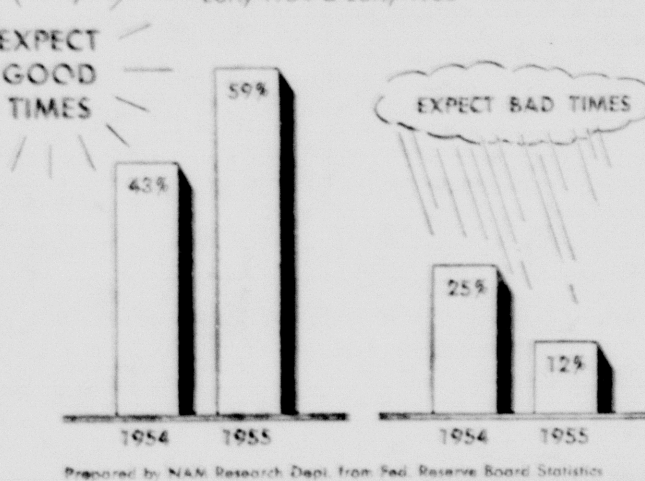

This is the number of diseases found among some 11,657 chickens, turkeys and other avian submitted by farmers to state diagnostic laboratories at Gonzales, Center and College Station from 1952-54.

The diagnostic service is part of continuing research into poultry diseases. Laboratories are operated by the Department of Veterinary Medicine of Texas A & M College and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Pullorum, hemorrhagic diseases, infectious bronchitis and coccidiosis were the diseases most frequently found among chickens submitted.

Harold Bugbee Honored Friday For Paintings

Harold Bugbee, curator of art in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum, was honored Friday by a large gathering of friends.

J. Evetts Haley for whom Bugbee illustrated many books, read a statement regarding his work, which had been reduced to a printed bulletin.

Bugbee is curator of art for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. In the ethnology panels, he said no attempt was made at portrayal of one period of time. In most cases, the Plains Indians are represented as they were before they became reservation Indians. The Navajo, Apache and Pueblo Indians are shown as Bugbee has studied them for over 30 years.

"Not all Southwestern tribes are shown," Bugbee explained. "Since this was formerly their hunting ground, I have painted the Comanche and the Kiowa, running buffalo, stealing horses, moving camp and returning from war—a life made pleasant through acquiring the white man's horse, but not yet spoiled by too many white men."

"The Navajos were selected because of their fine blankets and silver work, the Apaches for their baskets, and the Pueblos for their fine pottery and the opportunity they afford us to observe our earliest settlers as they were long ago."

Bugbee knows the west which he paints. He lives it daily on his own ranch. Long before he ever saw it, though, he dreamed of being a cowboy in Texas. That was back in Lexington, Massachusetts, where Bugbee was born in 1900, the son of Charles H. Bugbee and the former Grace L. Dow.

"I practiced roping and riding during my spare time on our farm near Lexington. When we moved to Texas, I wasn't exactly a tenderfoot," Bugbee recalls.

Bugbee's parents came from Back Bay to the Texas Panhandle because of the glowing accounts brought back by a cousin, Thomas S. Bugbee, prominent early-day cowman of the Panhandle who is listed as the area's second permanent rancher. Bugbee's speech retains the slight burr of the down-Easter, but in other respects—dress, mannerisms, occupations—he is a real Texan.

All through high school at Clarendon, Harold spent his spare time drawing. Then he went to Texas A&M College, where he received his first formal art training in addition to his major studies in animal husbandry. World War I came along to interrupt his studies, and he had a taste of military service in the ROTC. Illness prevented his return to school the next year. During World War II, he served in the Army Engineer Corps.

At 17, Harold attempted his first oil painting. It was a scene from the home pasture. It showed a cowboy in the foreground, around him a few frightened cows, clumps of sage, bleached cow skull, and a rattlesnake. Mr. and Mrs. Bugbee hung their son's painting on their living room wall—and there it remains today.

After a short while, Bugbee showed some promise as a painter that his father was advised to send him to a good art school. Harold went to Taos, where Bert Phillips, one of the founders of the art colony, suggested that he go to Des Moines, Iowa, to study under Charles A. Cummings.

Bugbee went to Des Moines, where he studied for three years. Back he came to the Texas Panhandle, to paint the ranch scenes he loved, alternating this work with visits to the Indian country to the west.

For his mural panels, Bugbee went to the Pueblos and reservations to sketch his subjects, to take 35 mm. film for color comparison. He sketches from life, then completes his paintings in his "work shop," a room other artists would call a studio, in the basement of his parents' ranch home two miles from Clarendon.

Bugbee's work has had wide distribution, in books and magazines. He has illustrated more than 20 books with pen and ink drawings—a medium in which he excels. His pen drawings also have appeared in numerous magazines.

One of the finest works of the cowboy artist is the mural in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum's Pioneer Hall depicting Colonel Charles Goodnight's entrance into the Palo Duro. Bugbee knew Colonel Goodnight personally, and among the artist's works which are shown at the Canyon museum is a fine oil portrait of the Panhandle's first rancher.

"Colonel Goodnight knew this country like no other man—and he understood horses and cattle," Bugbee said.

Both Harold Bugbee and his wife, the former Katherine Patrick, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patrick of Clarendon, take an active interest in the historical society. Bugbee is past president of the society and now serves as a member of the executive committee and board of directors. Both have worked to promote success for the society and the museum. One of Mrs. Bugbee's contributions to the museum is a book of autographs of leading pioneers of the Panhandle.

Someone asked Bugbee once how he became an artist. "When I realized that I was more interested in the length of a steer's horns than how fast he was, I knew I had more art in me than cowboy," he said.

Seriously, his ambition was to paint Texas and the West as it is today—a changing scene that he wants to preserve.

"My mother knew the rough road ahead of me when I told her I wanted to be an artist," Bugbee said. "She understood and did not discourage me. She knew I had inherited my talent and love for drawing from her. She had painted and studied at the School of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts."

Bugbee's work has been shown throughout the country, at Ferargil Gallery, New York; Findlay's Galleries, Chicago; Phoenix, Taos, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, University of Texas, and many other towns and cities. Shamrock Oil Co. displayed 18 framed advertisements with Bugbee illustrations at a three-day showing in Lamar, Colorado, one year, and reproductions of these paintings and drawings were donated by Shamrock for sale from the museum at Canyon.

Old Taos, Herring Hotel night spot, features life-size, realistic murals around its walls. These are the work of Bugbee.

Christmas cards, individual stationery, place cards and novelties bear Bugbee illustrations.

Bugbee, a modest, almost shy-looking man with a drawl, would be the last person to compare his work with that of Russell and Remington, the masters of realistic western painting. But his friends don't hesitate; they say Bugbee is preserving the west, truly, as it is and was, with the same fidelity and realism attained by the late masters.

There's no greater tribute to the kind of work Bugbee does than to see a pioneer cowboy stand awhile before a Bugbee painting, and announce with a shake of his head, "Yessir, that's it. That's just the way it is."

Bugbee went to Des Moines, where he studied for three years. Back he came to the Texas Panhandle, to paint the ranch scenes he loved, alternating this work with visits to the Indian country to the west.

Cooper Discusses Beauty Culture

"Hair Styling, Grooming, and Posture" were the topics discussed by Mrs. Marie Cooper in a speech May 9 to the Homemaking I class.

The class had formerly studied manners, good grooming, and attractiveness.

Mrs. Cooper discussed the importance of obtaining a higher goal in America's beauty culture. Cutting and styling a school girl's hair, she explained that different types of faces require special hair styling. Demonstrating, she gave the effects of bad and good posture and careful and careless grooming. Mrs. Cooper stressed that good grooming and posture are essential.

Mrs. Clara B. Long is sponsor of the class.

"We should be careful what we say," said the careful friend. "Of course," said Miss Cayenne, "although it isn't so much what you say that makes trouble as what somebody else says you said."

Students Select Dinner for Board

Administrators, past and present school board members, and their wives dined on the cooking skill of the fourth period third year Homemaking class Monday evening, May 9.

Decorations consisted of iris and ivy. Mrs. Clara B. Long, head of the homemaking department, directed the preparation of the menu which included barbecued chicken, parsley potatoes, fresh blackeyed peas, almonds, asparagus, western salad, rolls, butter, ice cream, and cookies. The dinner was served in the home economics foods lab.

Savings Bonds Week Declared By Gov. Shivers

AUSTIN: Governor Shivers today proclaimed the week of May 22-28 as U. S. Defense Savings Bonds Week in Texas, and called upon all Texans to do their part toward national defense by increasing their purchases of United States Savings Bonds.

"It is the earnest desire of every American," the Governor said, "that our country maintain an impregnable defense for the protection of our democratic ideals and free way of life. One way to insure this is through increased sale of Defense Savings Bonds. Therefore, I call upon every Texan to join wholeheartedly in this campaign."

More than 1200 volunteer workers representing every Texas county will devote their time and efforts to this drive during the week of May 22. Their goal will be: (1) to double the number of people buying bonds regularly on the Payroll Savings Plan and the Bond-a-Month Plan, and (2) to ask those already on the Plan to increase the amount of purchases each payday.

"Texas ranked only 38th in the nation in 1954 in the percentage of the state sales goal attained," the Governor said. "This is far short of Texas standards. I think we can lead the nation in 1955 if every Texan will give this matter serious thought and action!"

The 1955 Savings Bonds sales goal for Texas is $201.9 million. The national goal is $5.5 billion.

Farm Bureau Opposed to Gasoline Hike

WACO: The president of the Texas Farm Bureau is calling on the 60,000 member families of the organization to rise up in protest against efforts to increase the state sales tax on gasoline from four to six cents a gallon.

In a letter to all county Farm Bureau presidents, J. Walter Hammond called for immediate action on the part of the county leaders to defeat the proposal.

"Let me urge you to get your legislative committee together and start a movement to get your Farm Bureau members to oppose this tax," he cried. "Also explain to them what is about to happen to the people in the cities, who are not organized, and encourage and insist that they, too, write letters and send telegrams to their representatives in opposition to this most unfair and inequitable tax."

Hammond said the Farm Bureau's legislative staff in Austin reported a concerted effort on the part of the administration, Highway Commission, trucking industry, city and county governments and the oil and gas industry to increase the present tax.

"At the same time," he said, "there is a move on foot in Washington to increase the two-cent federal tax on gasoline to four cents, which would make a total of ten cents a gallon."

He also stated that there is a move to lower the tax on natural gas.

"The need for additional funds for highway purposes has been grossly exaggerated," the state farm leader said. "Everything goes by comparison, and Texas is well supplied with highways as compared to adjoining states."

Hammond said that increased revenues, if needed, should be obtained from other sources.

"The proposed increases in the gasoline tax would be all out of proportion to the taxes levied on natural resources," he asserted. "Since gasoline sells at the refinery for 11 to 12 cents per gallon, the proposed increase to 10 cents a gallon would amount to a tax of 83 percent on gasoline as compared to a 9 percent tax on natural gas, a tax that will drop to 7 percent in September, 1957."

The Farm Bureau leader said that a tax on natural gas would be to the best interest of Texas because "two-thirds of that tax would be people by people outside the state whereas the citizens of Texas would pay all of the tax on gasoline."

Hammond charged that the Highway Commission "like all other government agencies is determined to expand its operations."

He said it was easy to see why the trucking industry was backing the gasoline tax increase.

"Because of the nature of the tax, automobiles and light vehicles subsidize the trucking industry," he asserted.

"The gas and oil industries are pushing the tax on gasoline for a very obvious reason," Hammond said. "If the 10-cent tax is not levied on gasoline, the alternative would be to raise the tax in natural gas and oil."

"Every one of these groups has a selfish reason for sponsoring a tax on gasoline," Hammond charged. "In addition to that, the combined groups represent a very small portion of the people who would be involved in paying this tax. But the citizens who will be required to pay this tax are not organized and cannot present an organized opposition to the proposal."

The farm leader said that there was a possibility that the tax measure can be defeated in this Legislature.

"But," he warned, "if it is permitted to become law in this session, it would be almost impossible to reduce the tax in future legislative sessions."

WEST TEXAS
MOTOR CO.

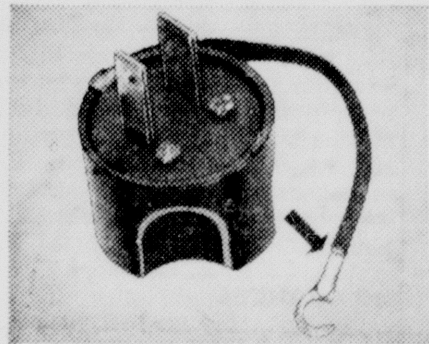

How to get safe, dependable, trouble-free electrical protection is being explained by John Dwyer, Vocational Agriculture teacher, to Donald Mansel. The various fuses may look alike but each one is designed to protect either an electrical circuit or an electric motor of given capacity.

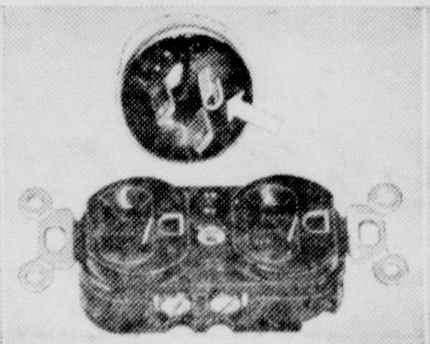

Farm power tools such as electric saws, drills, grinders, and sanding machines, both portable and stationary, are coming equipped these days with a grounding plug. The plug has three prongs, and, at first glance, one would think that he had received a three-wire, 220 volt plug. Actually, this is not the case. The plug is simply an ordinary 110-volt plug, but with this difference: the third prong is for a grounding connection. Some power plugs instead of having a third prong, will have a green wire protruding.

With this third connection, the terminal, usually a green covered wire that protrudes from the plug, is another type of ground used on some electric equipment. This ground should be connected to a water pipe or the conduit of the wiring system, if it is properly grounded.

operator of the power tool is completely safe in the event of insulation becoming worn or broken and the bare wire touching the frame of the motor. Current which might ordinarily energize the equipment will, instead, travel along the safety "ground" and be dissipated without harm. This will be so even if the ground or floor on which the operator is standing should be wet. If your present farm power tools do not have the third wire for grounding, call in your electrician and have him run a grounding wire for you so that tools may be plugged in

Below is plug and outlet available for installing a grounding wire on your existing 115 volt single phase electric powered tools. The third terminal carries the electricity to ground, if the equipment should become energized due to worn insulation on wires.

John Dwyer, Vocational Agriculture instructor, Groom, Texas, observes as students of Vocational Agriculture operate properly protected electric power tools. The wiring system is planned and adequate to supply the motors with sufficient electricity. All of the equipment has grounding protection. From the left: John Dwyer, James Angel, Ronald Homer, and Donald Mansel.

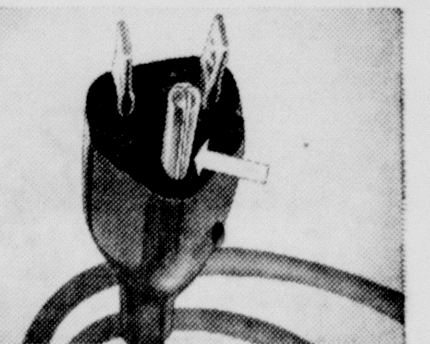

using the new three-prong plugs. (See accompanying photos).

While your electrician is installing your grounding system, ask him to check overload protection for your motors. Electric motors, while relatively inexpensive, do cost money and they should also have their share of protection from overloading.

A good example of a farm workshop which provides both operator and motor protection is the Farm Shop of the Vocational Agriculture Department, Groom High School, Groom, Texas. Under the guidance of John Dwyer, the instructor, this shop has been adequately wired, the electrical powered tools have the proper overload protection, and proper grounding convenience outlets are used. All wiring is in metal conduit.

These and other safe practices mean that this shop is a safe place for the students of Vocational Agriculture to work and learn how to use the tools that make farming more profitable. Your farm shop can be just as safe.

This type of electrical plug is found on the new "Electric Farm Power Tools". The third terminal is for the grounding wire that connects the motor to the ground in the wiring system.

Bury St. Edmunds, England. — After working for 24 hours to rescue a cat from the top of a 45-foot fir tree, local firemen, police and humane society officials decided to do it another way. They cut down the tree and the cat made a safe, four-point landing and scampered away.

NO CHANCES

Cowboy: "My podner and I are taking a trip through the desert next week. He's taking along a gallon of whiskey for rattlesnake bites."

Visitor: "What are you taking along?"

Cowboy: "Two rattlesnakes."

LITTLE PITCHERS

"I could tell he was talking about me, wasn't he?" "Well, yes, he was."

"And didn't I hear him say I had a thick head of hair?"

"Well, he didn't mention your hair."

HANDICAPPED

Flint — Did you ever win an argument with your wife?

Stone — Yes, once. It was years ago.

Flint — What about?

Stone — I don't exactly remember that. But I do remember very distinctly that we were laying carpet and her mouth was full of carpet tacks at the time.

SILENT PARTNERSHIP

There are many bridegrooms who on marriage quickly sour.

Here Is Where School Kids Get Their Training for the Battles of Life

This picture of the present school plant in the west end of town is a familiar sight to the graduates who received their education in the Canyon schools. The picture is made from the Southeast corner, looking North.. The first building is the grade school, which will house the junior high school this fall. The cafeteria, between the grade school building and high school building, is not shown in this picture. Neither is the new home economics building and gymnasium which was erected during the past year, located just north of the high school building. The new ward school building in the Southeast part of Canyon was completed recently, and will house all of the grades of the public schools when school opens in September. All of the students now attending West Texas State training school will likewise attend the new ward school.

WEST TEXAS RADIO SUPPLY

—Wholesale Only—

Genuine Parts—Radio and Television Sets

Ask your nearest Dealer for parts and supplies

Located at 1026 West 6th — Amarillo, Texas

DR2-3179

This well-known distributor is well deserving of more than passing notice in this review of the onward progress of this section of the state. They are perhaps the largest distributors in these parts with their products so recognized by the trade name for many miles in this area. Their products are popular because their service is most complete and they realize the popular demand for the products they handle. The wholesale distributor is located conveniently for the retail dealers of the surrounding territory, and on a visit you will find everything no less than made to order for the enterprise and to please you will be the dominating purpose of the West Texas Radio Supply, which is recognized in this section as headquarters for Radio and Television parts and supplies.

We are more than pleased in this review to call the attention of the people to this very popular service and to say that they are civic leaders and up-to-date in their methods, and are deserving of the people in this section of the state. The management is a well known businessman in this region, and has always taken an active interest in the onward progress of this part of the state.

Designed for all occasions

Located at 706 West 16th—Amarillo, Texas

Phone DR3-9118

The Barnwell Boot Shop has fulfilled a great need in the business life of this section. When this firm started in business, they were thoroughly convinced that the public cares as much for quality as for price. Because they have constantly kept this in mind, today, they are recognized as being one of the most progressive concerns in this section of the state. Those interested in the better class of gifts and accessories are extended a cordial invitation to visit this modern store. When you have done so, you will see for yourself just what they mean by quality and service. "Quality and Service" is their motto. It is the attention which they give to the little details as well as the big points that not only gives their novelties the greatest utility possible, but adds a touch of distinction which no other firm has equaled. This firm has always shown a progressive spirit and has done its share in making this section a better and more prosperous one in which to live.

In making this review of the onward progress of this area, we wish to compliment them upon their achievements and suggest that they are deserving of your loyal support. They extend to you a hearty welcome to visit them at any time when in Amarillo.

Just Between You, Me . . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

Want a peek into things to come? Then you should be attending the bi-weekly coffee sessions sponsored and encouraged by the Chamber of Commerce every other Tuesday in the American Legion Hall. Truett Hull is planning the first coffee session that will be held Tuesday morning between 10 and 10:30. Discussion at the coffee sessions will be concerning the question of "Which way do we go in the future?" The recent event that made this more important than anything else was the Expressway issue that was recently voted in. How will this new step toward progress affect Canyon? That is one of the things you may learn by attending the coffee sessions.

Well, things are sort of changing all over during these first days of spring in 1955. A number of houses are going up all over town. One of these is in our neighborhood out in the east part. This one is the future home of the Bill Lees. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Allen, Linda and Janice are out of town for a short vacation and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Goodman, Martha and Cindy, are moving to Austin temporarily while Kenny studies law at the University of Texas. This leaves George Stevens, the senior resident on our block.

While new houses are being built others are also being moved in. The Harry Wheelers have a large house moved in and placed on their lot behind their business, the Corral. Another house has been set down at 1800 First Avenue by John Murphy. As the grasshopper said when flying over the fish pond, "Things are really looking up."

If you want to know what time it is, ask Dick Loudder. He doesn't carry a watch because he doesn't need one. He amazes his friends who ask the time and he can give it to them within a few minutes of total accuracy. In fact, he can probably tell time better without a watch than he could with one as most watches are five or ten minutes wrong anyhow.

If you attended the Art Fair a week-ago Saturday, you saw some of the finest art creations our local youngsters can design. The things you saw were the result of a lot of work by our local art teachers. Miss Claudia Neelley and the Art Fair Committee were very well pleased with the latest Art Fair. It was the fourth annual Art Fair to be conducted here and was conducted at the American Legion Hall. About the walls of this huge building were spread the splendor of the Art Fair which depicted beautiful creations of children from all ages and different backgrounds.

Richly colored paintings gave the Legion Hall an art gallery effect. About the floor, displayed on tables, were many other creative examples of youthful art. There was lovely ceramics, hand tooled leather work, paper mache birds, clay modeling, needle work, metal work and woodcraft. The Art Fair Committee is hoping to make the Art Fair an annual event here and we hope it can be accomplished. This can be done if the event proves popular enough with the public. So if you enjoyed the Art Fair let Miss Neelley and the committee know about it.

If you visited the Art Fair and signed up at the guest book you probably received a mimeographed page of paper. This page was written to introduce you to the efforts of the people who originated the Art Fair. Remember the first sentence, it was "To preserve creativeness or independent and original thinking is to contribute to America's present and future well-being." There was much more on the page but this one sentence says a lot and sums up the entire story of Art Fair.

Jack Jennings was happy Saturday. The Memorial Fund for WW II dead was nearing the goal line. Jack said that he was sure more than $500 had been collected. The plaque is ordered and may arrive in time for the Memorial to be dedicated at the same time the Park is. The plaque will be mounted in the Memorial which is to be 12 feet at the base, four feet at the top and six feet tall. Eight feet out from the Memorial, from a footlight angle, will be a spotlight to illuminate the Memorial at night.

One of the things we have learned by experience is that people shouldn't be afraid of giving kindness away, it always comes back.

The sentence you just read, if you're still reading, does not fit the usual corn here but it was too good to pass up. At any rate it doesn't hurt to be serious occasionally. Here's the other corn and you may appropriately term it pop corn, it just sort of pops out.

A good answer for the wife when she wants a fur coat, "If nature had wanted you to have a fur coat she would have provided you with one."

A conceited man is one who believes he's a gentleman simply because he prefers blonds. The wolf prefers whichever is present.

Travel or a certain amount of fat in the diet, will broaden one.

What pop wants most to get out of his car is his teen age youngsters.

FHA Candidates Named in Meeting

Candidates for the FHA scholarship award and offices were nominated Thursday night, May 12, in a business meeting in the cafeteria. Elections will be in the near future.

State degree girls, a few of their mothers, and Mrs. Nadine Lyles gave a panel discussion of the state FHA degree.

Junior high girls were invited to attend the business meeting. Purpose was to interest more students in homemaking and FHA.

Girls nominated for the FHA award are June Davis, Virginia Leake, Janis Wright, Diane Prichard, and Nancy Kay Tomlinson. Candidates for officers are: Marcus Robinson, president; Theresa Mickey, vice - president; Sandra Michael, secretary; Emma Coleman, treasurer; Sylvia Key, parliamentarian; Faye Lowrey, historian; and Pat Hardaway, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Clara B. Long and Mrs. Lyles are sponsors of FHA and homemaking.

Mrs. Nancy McCaslin is in Clovis, N. M., with her daughter, Beth and family, the Jim Burans. They have recently welcomed their second son. They also have a daughter.

Mrs. Mary Angermeir of Burbanks, Calif., is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lem Fisher.

Around the Town...

(By Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick)

Every year Canyon, like every other community, is asked to contribute to nine or ten drives for projects of importance to our way of life, such as the March of Dimes for Polio, Heart Fund, Cancer, Red Cross, Crippled Children, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cerebral Palsy, Muscular Dystrophy, all of these are national organizations which are worthwhile and necessary.

In addition to these this year we have had locally the library and park. In the past the funds for these drives have been raised by individuals who have given a great deal of time to them. In all this amounts to 11 drives that have been taken in Canyon so far this year and this has taken a great deal of time on the part of those working.

While all give as liberally as they can afford to each of these drives and want to support all of them, there is always the question "Will there be other drives?" It is with this in mind that the Chamber of Commerce has appointed L. W. Cole to see if we could not organize our giving in such a way that one check could cover all these drives. A survey will be made to find just what our quota is in each of these fields and then this amount proportioned to the households of Randall County.

This way each household would be asked for one contribution that would be divided among the various drives by a board of directors appointed by the Chamber of Commerce.

This organization would be called the Canyon Community Fund.

It would save much time and thought on the part of those conducting the drives as well as those contributing.

Mrs. R. M. Sigman called my attention to how bindweed is getting a start in the yards of Canyon. Saying it is one of the worst pests in the way of weeds there is known. That it is much worse than Johnson grass and much harder to kill. I talked to our County Agent John Brazzil and he agrees that there just isn't anything much worse than bindweed.

Bindweed in many localities is called "possession vine" because of its aggressiveness and persistence. It may take possession of the land and eventually cause abandonment if its control is neglected. It is a vigorous climber and twines itself around any weed or other support and will grow along the ground if it has no support.

John Brazzil says the seed have been known to lie dormant for as long as 50 years.

New infestations are started from seed carried in crop seed or from roots of the plant.

E. D. Walker says bindweed can be killed with Weed-no-more if applied when the plant is young. To be effective the Weed-no-more must be applied in the full sunshine, preferably at noon and must be applied more than once. Best results are usually obtained when the weed is sprayed in the bud or bloom stage. All who have had any experience with this weed say it should be destroyed as soon as found. The longer it is allowed to grow the harder it is to destroy.

Rev. Charles Geisler, pastor of the Methodist Church of Lyford, has been selected by the Division of World Missions of the Methodist Church and the United Churches of Japan to serve for the two summer months in Japan teaching the rural pastors of Japan, through an interpreter, how to conduct the Methodist marriage service, the funeral service, and the regular services of the Methodist Church. Rev. Geisler will also help the local pastors to organize new churches and teach family worship in the homes.

Mrs. Geisler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips, Frankie. She will bring their two children, John Frank, who is three years old, and their daughter, Amy Louise, 8 months old, to visit with her parents and all of them will take a trip to the Rocky Mountains and to Salt Lake City where they will visit with the Phillips' other daughter, Betty Jane, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moody and their two children, Patric Elizabeth, three years old, and Gregory Phillip, 16 months old. The Phillips are looking forward to a grand summer with their four grandchildren. Mrs. Phillips says "There won't be a dull moment for us this summer."

Rev. Geisler is one of 25 American pastors to be selected for this service.

There has been so much written and talked about juvenile crime lately that an editorial written in a late issue of Collier's brings much comfort. The writer says the problem is real enough, but it ought to be kept in focus. Today we have as promising a crop of non-delinquents as the country has seen in a long while.

The author gives the following figures to prove that the non-delinquents still outnumber the delinquents by 50 to 1 and among this preponderance of good kids there is a steady increase in acceptance of responsibilities of citizenship. There were 435,000 juvenile lawbreakers referred to the courts in 1953. But there were more than two million dedicated, business-tending 4-H Clubbers—twice as many as in 1933—plus some 400,000 Future Farmers of America.

The Boy Scouts—one of the most effective of the character-building organizations—has doubled its membership in ten years to 3,400,000. Teen-agers are pouring into universities in far greater proportions than 20 years ago, and more and more are doing it the hard way—working their way through.

"Crying lackaday over the rising generation is nothing new; somber misgivings were widely proclaimed over the generation that sprouted in the Thirties. Yet these youngsters came on to carry their country safely through the most savage war of history. Their offspring, faced with an ever grimmer challenge, will doubtless do as well."

There's comfort in these figures presented by Collier's editor, but it should not mean a slacking of our efforts toward youth.

Someone said over the radio not long ago: "What's wrong with our youth? They were all right when we got them."

It is said that a Columbia professor has evolved the theory that eventually the intelligence of people may be definitely measured by the temperature of the country in which they live. He says that climate affects intelligence more than race or education does.

Mrs. J. M. White and her sister, Mrs. Ben Thrope of Snyder spent Mother's Day visiting with their mother, Mrs. Erie Murphy, and other relatives in Shreveport, staying on for a short visit.

Mrs. Francis Terrill says NOW is the time to treat evergreens. That the best way is to wet the tree and then dust it with sulphur. Using a small twenty cent box of sulphur to each tree. This sulphur can be purchased at drug stores or flower shops.

Mrs. Lillie Foster, 511 16th St. has a Rose-Acacia tree in bloom that is a beautiful sight. This tree like shrub is also known as the Moss Locust. It has light green foliage and is loaded with clusters of pea-shaped, rose pink flowers in June and July. The blossoms look like sweet peas and the shrub is sometimes called the sweet-pea tree. Mrs. Foster says it is very hardy, requires little care or water and blooms every year. The late Mr. Foster got this tree from the Upfolds (Georgia Upfold's parents) about seven years ago. Mrs. Foster says the shrub bloomed twice a year for her.

And now a new use for roses has been found. Rose bushes, it appears, can stop a ton and a half of careening steel in little more than its own length, leaving vehicle and riders not only unmarred but hardly jolted. Roses—not the decorative garden types but multiflora japonica, a tough, tightly interlaced bush that grows eight feet tall and eight feet thick—have been used to stop cars at a speed of 51 m.p.h., without injury to the car or the occupant.

All this means a lot to every community. The rosebush barriers can be grown in almost any soil. They take root without cultivation. They are cheap, average cost for 1,000 plants is $18.00. They spread rapidly, produce quantities of yellow-centered, fragrant white blossoms. The barbed brambles grow so thickly that, planted between the lanes of a divided road, they can cut off the glare of approaching headlights and reduce traffic noise to a whisper.

Above all, they provide living "shock absorbers" that, though they take seven years to reach full growth, actually can begin saving lives after only four years. The U. S. Bureau is making still further tests in the use of roses as lifesavers.

Mrs. Zoe Holman is building a new home at 1613 Seventh Ave. It is to be finished in red brick with a grey roof and will have a kitchen, two bedrooms, bath, combined den and dining room and utility room. Mrs. Holman says the main reason she is building is to have a radiant heating system and a sprinkling system in her yard. In radiant heating hot water is piped in all rooms through pipes in floors. She has seen this type of heating in a number of homes and all have told her it is most satisfactory. The floors are always warm and she says, "I'll never have cold feet anymore." Then she wanted a sprinkling system in her yard and she has a complete coverage of her yard in her sprinkling system.

Mrs. Holman moved to Canyon 31 years ago. She has four children, five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Two of her children live in Canyon: Mrs. Hosea Foster and Larry Holman. A son, L. H. Holman, lives near Canyon and one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Hays, lives in Anchorage, Alaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Byrd, Jr., and their four children, Roy Neal III, John, George and Rebecca, and Mrs. Byrd's mother and sister, Mrs. Alice Black, and Chloe Ann Black, have gone to California to visit with Mr. and Mrs. James LaCour at North Ridge. Mrs. LaCour is Mrs. Black's daughter. Roy will attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of U.S.A. in Los Angeles.

Bobby Bellah, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bellah, is recovering from rheumatic fever which has kept him in bed ever since the Christmas holidays. Bobby is able to be up some now in a wheel chair and was delighted to attend the closing exercises of his sixth grade class which was held in the gymnasium of the Grade School.

Mrs. John Davis has been tutoring Bobby and both of them have enjoyed this association. Bobby hopes to be back with his class when school starts again this fall. The months Bobby has had to spend in bed have been made much easier by the kindness of his friends, for which he and his parents are deeply grateful. His mother said Bobby said one day: "Mother, it's a good thing we live in Canyon. I don't believe people anywhere else in the world would have been as nice to us."

The Garden Club met in regular session on the lawn of the W. A. Warren's. The president, Levi Cole, was not present so Mrs. Jeannette Robbins called the meeting to order and turned the meeting over to Mrs. Warren who talked on iris and showed the club her iris. Mrs. Warren has over 300 iris and knows the name of every one. She has made a study of iris, their habits and their culture. Her iris run the gamut of colors that justify the meaning of their name: rainbow. She has used them as borders around most of her yard and has nearly every color one could think of from white, pale pink to almost black. Mrs. Warren says iris takes very little care and water and not much fertilizer. There was open discussion about iris led by Mrs. Warren.

Attending the meeting was Mesdames Morgan, Robbins, Mark Foster, Bellah, Burrow, Pierce, Moore, Black, Warwick, Miss Walker, Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Dr. Ples Harper, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Warren.

The club will meet on the lawns of the members during the summer months. The next meeting will be held at the Warwick's. Refreshments were served of Coca-Cola and snacks.

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good to all men."—Galatians 6:7-10.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that for the fourth month in a row the consumer price index had remained unchanged at 114.3.

Former Canyon Boy Has Dance Contract

Loren Hightower who grew up in Canyon has recently signed a contract with Max Lieberman for a spot on his television show called "Spectaculars." This can be seen on one of the Amarillo stations.

Mr. Hightower has already achieved wide attention as a dancer, having appeared for a season with the premiere ballerina of the United States.

His parents were formerly owners of the Monarch Cleaning Shop.

PALO DURO-RUSK H. D. CLUB MEETS IN MRS. C. REITZ HOME

Ten members met in the home of Mrs. Charles Reitz on May 10th for the regular meeting of the Palo Duro-Rusk Home Demonstration Club.

The meeting was called to order and Mrs. Clem Dugan gave a poem, "My Mother's Prayer," as a special number.

Opening exercise was given by Mrs. Charles Conatser. Council report was given and recommendations from Council Yearbook Committee were read, discussed and accepted.

Mrs. Douglas Marshall was elected delegate to state meeting. Announcement of the 4-H Clubs talent show was made.

Meeting was adjourned and delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames Ralph Barclay, Conatser, Bill Dugan, Clem Dugan, Roger Dugan, Marshall, Henry Miller, Bert Northcutt, Charles Wilkinson and the hostess.

Methodists Will Meet at Lubbock On May 25th

Northwest Texas Methodist Conference delegates and visitors will gather in First Methodist church's new million and one-half dollar plant in Lubbock for the 46th annual session of the conference. Bishop William C. Martin of the Dallas-Fort Worth area, will be presiding during the session which will open Wednesday, May 29.

Major business items will include consideration of a building program for McMurry college, Abilene. Clergy and lay delegates to the General Conference to be held at Minneapolis, Minn., and the South Central Jurisdiction Conference to be held in New Orleans, La., both in 1956, will be elected.

Conference preacher will be Dr. J. Wallace Hamilton known as the pastor of the Pasadena Community church in St. Petersburg, Fla. Each Sunday, his "drive-in church" congregation numbers in the thousands. He is the author of "Ride The Wild Horses" and "Horns and Halos in Human Nature."

Dean Merrimon Cunningham of Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, will be the speaker for the annual all-college dinner.

Bishop Martin's devotional messages will be based on the theme, "Living in Two Worlds." His topics will include: "Material Reality and the Realm of the Spirit," "God's Sovereignty and Man's Responsibility," and "The Continuing Struggle and the Eternal Hope."

MRS. BILL DUGAN HONORED AT PINK AND BLUE SHOWER

Mesdames Charles Conatser, Bert Northcutt and Bob Dawson were hostesses at a pink and blue shower given in honor of Mrs. Bill Dugan at the home of Mrs. Charles Conatser recently.

Games were played and gifts were presented to the honoree. Those present for the occasion were Mesdames Curtis Lehnick, Charles Wilkinson, H. C. Long, Clem Dugan, Roger Dugan, Dick Lowery, B. H. Gough, Oscar Smith.

Those sending gifts but unable to attend were Mesdames Walter Partridge, Pete Cowart, Bill Counsellor, Edd Reynolds, Redmond Hand, Irene Chamberlain, Charles Reitz, and Henry Miller.

Homemaking Class Serves Instructors

The Canyon High School faculty members were guests of the second period Homemaking III class last Monday, May 9. At 3:30 p. m., teachers and administrators were served ice cream, cookies, and coffee by the girls in the homemaking department living room. The social hour adjourned at 4:30.

Teen-agers are advised to start summer job hunt early.

Biggest, Most Beautiful, Highest-Powered Car EVER PRICED WITH THE LOWEST!

THE BIG, handsome Pontiac you see here represents the greatest automobile value in America! Keeping in mind the fact that this Pontiac 860 sedan costs less than many models of the lowest-priced cars and much less than stripped economy models of higher-priced makes, consider the many ways in which Pontiac fits so neatly into the fine-car pattern. First of all, Pontiac is big where it counts—in wheel-base. You get a full 122 inches of road-hugging stability and heft—and the secure feeling that goes with it. Pontiac's beauty is Pontiac's alone. No car at any price is so distinctively keyed to the future. Its exclusive Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Toning bear the future-fashioned touch you know will stay in style. When it comes to performance—Pontiac overtakes even far more expensive cars. Its husky, nimble Strato-

Streak V-8, 200 H.P. with 4-barrel carburetor*, provides more power than any car within hundreds of dollars of Pontiac's modest price. You enjoy the flashing response and reserve power of the industry's most modern V-8 engine design.

Come in soon and drive the most spectacular low-priced car ever built! You'll find there never was a better time to break the small car habit, because Pontiac's very low price puts you solidly and pleasantly into the big-car, fine-car class!

*Optional at extra cost, 180 h. p. standard.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Readers ask: "What does disclosure of Yalta agreement mean?"

Many pundits take stand disclosure was pure politics with 1956 elections in mind. Yet Washington observers are reluctant to agree such men as Sen. H. Style Bridges is motivated only by politics. Significantly, Sen. William Knowland asks for publication of a 11 secret agreements including those made since his party has been in power.

Once majority of nation's legislators were well grounded in classics and acted with long roll of history's lessons in mind. This attribute has been largely lost in today's public life.

So-called Bricker amendment introduced by Sen. John Bricker, defeated in last session, and now before this session, and backed by an overwhelming majority of nationwide membership of National Federation of Independent Business, recognizes this illuminant backdrop of history.

History shows republics founder when it is forgotten that it is basic human nature for unchecked power to inevitably create messiah complex. Caesar was a noble and selfless Roman until he found he could push Roman Senate aside. Napoleon was an ardent republican until he found he could shackle French Assembly.

So blame for Yalta's bitter pill is shared by a Congress that permitted its authority to be usurped to such an extent secret agreements could be made without its approval.

© National Federation of Independent Business

Real issue now is prevention of future Yalta.

Almost daily examples show executive branch of government playing ring-around-the-rosy, with duly elected Congress. Harold Stassen, head of foreign aid, now in charge of disarmament, is under Congressional fire for taking $20,000,000 of funds allocated to India for other purposes and buying rolling stock for state owned railroad. Of course, Stassen seems to have acquired virus infecting all who get involved in "one world" schemes, namely, it is sole duty of Congress to vote money, then shut up.

One of ablest legal minds ever in government, Stanley Barnes, head of Justice Department anti-trust division, created stir recently when he questioned Commerce Department procedures in holding meetings with so-called "business advisory groups."

From his long viewpoint, he seemingly realized if such meetings developed into "star chamber" sessions, there would be no limit to wheeling and dealing possible among select few seeking to build cozy monopolies.

Issue was handled without lurid headlines. But Commerce Department agreed with softly but firmly worded demand by Mr. Barnes that such meetings be held openly; that complete minutes of proceedings be made.

So despite all reports that Yalta disclosures are politically inspired, responsible Congressional leaders are not motivated by this consideration. They are merely trying to avoid repetitions of Yalta, realizing any time Republic's business is conducted in dark corners, dark events will take place. There is no way to legislate against inevitability of human nature. That is first principle of democracies survival.

"WOMAN IN SHOE"

Norfolk, Va. — Mrs. Narcissus Faltz filled her car with children to take them home from Sunday School. A patrolman stopped the car, gave Mrs. Faltz a summons for reckless driving. In Traffic Court, Mrs. Faltz claimed there were no more than eight or nine youngsters in her car, but an officer said he counted 21. Mrs. Faltz was fined $25 for "overloading in a manner to obstruct the driver's vision" and the fine was suspended on condition that Mrs. Faltz not carry so many children in her car next time.

BEATS EM ALL

A balky mule has four-wheeled brakes.
A billy goat has bumpers;
A firefly has a bright spotlight.
Rabbits are puddle-jumpers.
Camels have balloon-tired feet
And carry spares of what they eat.
But still I think of nothing that beats
The kangaroos with rumble seats.

HIS ADVICE

The teacher was having her trials and finally wrote the mother: "Your son is the brightest boy in my class, but he is also the most mischievous. What shall I do?"
The reluctant reply was: "Do as you please. I am having my own trouble with his father."

"ROULETTE" FATAL

Cincinnati — Patrick Vilardo, 18, unloaded his grandfather's revolver except for one bullet twisted by the cylinder and aimed it at his friend, Billie Lee Phillips, 17, while shouting, "Hey look, Russian roulette." The boy was shot to death by the one remaining bullet.

12-POUND SHOT KILLS BOY

Hyde Park, N. Y. — Raymond Barbeau, Jr., 14, stepped through a door onto the athletic field of Eymard Seminary here, right into the path of a 12-pound shot heaved by a schoolmate. The boy was hit at the base of the skull and died a few hours later. The tragedy was termed a "tragic accident." The heavy shot had been tossed by another boy in shotgun practice.

SHEAR MAN AND BEAST

Grand Junction, Colo. — Charl Charlesworth and his brother operate a barber shop here. During the spring, as soon as the shop closes for the day, they go out and shear sheep. Shearing a sheep takes only four minutes per sheep, while "shearing" a man takes 20 minutes, they say.

PLAYS WITH MATCHES

Arlington, Va. — James Edward Koons, 4, was admitted to a hospital for severe leg burns suffered when his clothing caught fire. Police said the child's trousers caught fire when he and another child were playing with matches in the yard. The flames were extinguished by his mother and a maid who heard the child's screams and ran to his rescue.

NEVER HEARD OF TAXES

Richmond, Va. — Believe it or not, but Joel W. Stowe, of Dry Ford, a saw mill operator, was recently acquitted in Federal Court of wilfully failing to file a Federal income tax return after he testified he didn't know about it. The judge agreed that Stowe's story was true. Stowe's attorney said his client lived an isolated life and seldom went to town.

SNAKE IN PLANE

Jackson, Tenn. — Climbing to 1,500 feet for a 500-mile cross-country flight, Lieut. Harry Scott saw a snake sticking his head out of the instrument panel. Scott and his companion, Sgt. Bedford Lasley, were back on the ground five minutes after takeoff. National Guardsmen had to take the instrument panel out to remove the snake — a 42-inch chicken snake. Scott said, "I didn't ask his pedigree. At 1,500 feet snakes are snakes to me."

TOO STRONG

Long Beach, California. — Merle Albright didn't know his own strength when it came to ringing the bell on a strength-testing machine in an amusement park. He picked up a hammer and came down with a mighty blow that rang the bell. But Albright didn't know it until he woke up in a hospital where he was taken when the hammer had rebounded and struck him atop the head, inflicting a 2-inch cut and rendering him unconscious.

KITE ELECTROCUTES 2

Waynesville, Mo. — Mrs. Fred Martisan, 22, was flying a kite, attached to a copper wire, near a trailer parking area where she and her husband lived. When the kite wire struck a high-voltage power line, Mrs. Martisan was electrocuted. Her husband, attempting to rescue his wife, was also electrocuted. Also injured was Sergeant James J. Wagnitz, who was standing nearby.

NEW GNU NEWS

Sydney, Australia. — Good news for gnu-lovers was the announcement by keepers of the Sydney zoo recently of the arrival of a new gnu. Few gnus are born in zoos and fewer still grow into big gnus, according to zoo keepers.

FAST WORKERS

The old lady had lost her purse and she rushed into the New York station house and tearfully told her story. The desk sergeant was very kind and calmed her fears as best he could. Laying his hand on her arm, he said:
"We will leave no stone unturned to find your purse, madam."
Leaving the building she noticed a group of city workers busy tearing up the street for drainage repair and she remarked to herself: "Well, they don't lose much time. I'll say that for them."

FARM AID

President Eisenhower has called for a "many-sided attack" on the problems of the low-income farmers. The call was made in a special message to Congress, which the President said had his "general approval." It urged, among other things, $30,000,000 of landing authority and strengthening of off-farm employment opportunities for farmers who are barely able to make ends meet.

MILITARY SERVICE

Some military service will be required from practically all young American men as long as the conflict with communism exists, declared Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson recently. The nation must "always be alert in defending the principles in which it was founded," he said.

Let justice be done though the world perish. —Motto of Ferdinand I.

New Officers For Book Club Are Selected

The two years of Woman's Book Club activities under the able leadership of Miss Edna Graham ended last Wednesday, when L. A. Donnell began her term as president.

The administration just ended had been marked by good attendance of members, interesting, carefully prepared programs, notable teamwork, and a range of study wide enough to challenge the entire membership. Contributions to the Canyon Public Library, always a major interest of the club, were brought back to the standard set by the club's founders many years ago.

The last program of this club year was entirely the work of Miss Elva Fronabarger who had as her subject, "Suggested Reading for the Summer." She furnished her hearers a list of 30 books which have appeared on the best known lists of the nation and which have commanded most favorable attention from the reviewers.

Time permitted thumb nail reviews of a few books. Miss Fronabarger placed emphasis on "Two Minutes Till Midnight" by Elmer Davis; "Soldier of Fortune" by Gann; "Now is the Time" by Smith; "Bottoms Up" by Cornelia Otis Skinner; "No Time for Sergeants" by Hyman; and "Gifts from the Sea" by Anne Lindbergh.

Miss Fronabarger also mentioned that the Holy Bible continues the world's best seller and that it is delightful and profitable reading for every season.

At the business session it was announced that the Program Committee is already at work on the year book for 1955-56. In the absence Mrs. T. H. Knighton, Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick is acting as chairman.

Officers and committees who will share Mrs. Donnell's responsibilities for the coming two years are Mesdames K. E. Frieze, vice-president; Alfred Bellah, secretary; S. B. Louder, treasurer; Nancy McCaslin, Federation counselor, and Misses Irene Angel, critic and Elva Fronabarger, parliamentarian.

On the Randall County Library Board will be Mesdames Joe Gibson, Frank Morgan, and Irving So-Relle; Mesdames T. H. Knighton, S. H. Condon, Clyde W. Warwick, and Misses Darthula Walker and Mae Simmons compose the program and year book committee.

The membership committee is headed by Mrs. Charles Harter, with Mesdames C. A. Murray, T. V. Reeves and Joseph Findley. Mesdames C. R. Burrow, Fred Standley, Ray Campbell and Wesley Kleinschmidt are the telephone committee and Mrs. James P. Cornette will have charge of publicity.

The remembrance committee is composed of Miss Edna Graham, Mesdames Walter Graham, H. A. Brown and Lon Fanning.

A feature of next year's activities will be the observance of the club's 50th anniversary, and a club history is being prepared in anticipation of that event.

CIVILIAN EMPLOYMENT

Civilian employment on the Federal payroll increased 1,802 during March to a total of 2,355,810, according to a report by the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures. The increase was the second in two months, but only the fifth since July 1952.

were true and that federal control was necessary. This is a very dangerous practice. It is not fair to the reader, it is not fair to the subject, and it is not fair to the publisher.

The simple truth is that the committee has not reached any conclusions on any of the issues involved and probably won't for several days. Wouldn't it be nice if the people could have the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth on all of the issues, domestic and international? It would no doubt be a short cut to peace. But I guess there will always be the confusion created by innuendo, insinuation and misunderstanding.

Congress

Congress moves into its cleaning up process before the closing days. The committees are all hard at work trying to get the legislation on the House Calendar within the next two weeks, knowing that unless it is brought before the House before the 10th or the 15th of June, it will have no chance of passing both Houses this session.

This means that efforts will be made by many groups to have legislation helpful to them passed upon as speedily as possible. This will require added vigilance upon the part of the Members of Congress because history has shown that sometimes questionable legislation slips through these busy hours.

Each committee and subcommittee must carefully scrutinize the bills coming before it. We hope to adjourn by July 15th, but realize that it will probably be nearer to August 15th or September 1st. It does not presently appear that there will be anything to hold us past August 15th, so I am choosing that as the adjournment date.

Division of Separate Estates by Statute

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband or wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

"... and YOU wanted to live right by the golf course!"

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full fee title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half or one-fourth of the entire real estate will be divided among your brothers and sisters and their descendants who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

Miss Erdman Tells Story of Laura V. Hamner in Article

A story about the Panhandle's beloved Laura V. Hamner appears in the June issue of a magazine, written by Loula Grace Erdman of Canyon. The article, "Mother to a Region," tells of Miss Laura's love for the Texas Panhandle and how she has told its story in her writings and on her radio program.

As early as 1901, Miss Laura saw the need for getting the stories of men and women who had helped tame the Panhandle. While a postmistress at Claude, Texas, in 1910 she got the story of Col. Charles Goodnight. She wrote it into a book called "The No-Gun Man of Texas." It was later adopted as a text book for Texas school children. A second book, "Short Grass and Long Horns," tells of the great ranches of the Panhandle.

Interested also in the future of the Panhandle, Miss Laura has made a point to attend every public meeting aimed at progress. While serving as superintendent of rural schools in Potter County six new buildings were constructed.

She has always taken an interest in anyone who wanted to write. She was founder of Panhandle Penwomen.

Miss Laura has traveled many miles by horse and buggy, train, bus and plane to get her stories about the people in the Panhandle. She shares them on her weekly radio program "Light and Hitch." On October 31, 1954, Miss Hamner gave her 600th consecutive radio broadcast. She started it over 11 years ago when she was past 70. She always ends the program with a statement of her belief — "the Panhandle is the grandest spot on earth."

The parrot has no wishbone.

PLAINS BUTANE

NEWS LETTER
FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Another First

My good friend Tom Steed, who represents the 4th Congressional District in Oklahoma, is serving in the Public Works Committee and recently represented this government and Congress in the opening of the Inter-American Highway between Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

This was the first time that it has ever been possible to go from the Capital of Costa Rica to the Capital of Nicaragua on an all-weather highway. It is one of the important links in the Inter-American Highway which we all hope will be completed in the not too distant future.

Tom is a very loyal Oklahoman and never fails to heckle any of us Texans about everything from football to flapjacks if he thinks Oklahoma might be a little bit superior at that particular time. As soon as he returned from Central America and the dedication ceremonies, he looked me up and said, "Rogers, I've got to tell you this story even though it might hurt my pride."

He then proceeded to relate to me the fabulous ceremonies attending the cutting of the ribbon and the opening of this important gap of highway; about the gathering of the natives from both countries and the high officials of the governments. He said that immediately after the ceremonies had concluded and the highway had been officially opened, everyone was waiting to see the first car to make use of the road. He said it was just a few minutes before a car hove into sight, and everyone was waiting to see where it was from.

Tom's face then fell and he said, "I swore it couldn't happen, but it did. The license plate was TEXAS." He then laughed, because he is an excellent sport, and walked off mumbling to himself that no matter where you go, the first fellow you run into is a Texan, even in the wilds of the Central American jungles.

Federal Control of Gas

As I pointed out in several previous newsletters, we are engaged in a very serious and most difficult fight to prevent the Federal Government from regulating the production and gathering of gas and the price thereof at the wellhead. We have extended committee hearings concerning this matter and heard from witnesses from every conceivable source. The public hearings were then concluded and we began consideration of the proposed legislation (several bills) in executive session. This means that the discussions are in confidence and are not to be divulged except through the Chairman by proper agreement.

Immediately after our first executive meeting on the gas bills, the newspapers came up with a story purporting to be authentic as to what the committee had done. It was partially true and partially untrue, but created sufficient confusion to require a correct statement to be made by the Chairman.

No one knows where the leak was in the first place, but it was a good example of how people can get misled. A story in a Washington paper concerning this matter stated in the headlines that the committee had decided upon certain federal controls of gas at the wellhead. This was not true at all, but it would very easily serve to confuse the average reader.

It would actually indicate to some readers that some of the wild misrepresentations that have been published about gas producers

Family Will Cluck With Delight Over New Chicken Recipes

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

EVERYONE likes chicken, and spring birds will be on the market any day. So let's pick out two delicious recipes using broiler-fryer chickens and enjoy ourselves.

Easy Oven-Fried Chicken and Biscuits (Four servings)

One 2½ pound chicken for frying, cut up; 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup packaged biscuit mix, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons paprika, ¼ cup each, shortening and butter or margarine; 2 cups packaged biscuit mix, ½ cup milk.

Dip the chicken pieces in a mixture of biscuit mix, salt, pepper and paprika to coat well. Melt shortening in a shallow baking dish (9x12x2) in a hot oven (425 degrees F.). Remove baking dish from oven and place chicken skin-side down in a single layer. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Turn chicken. Push chicken pieces to one side.

Make biscuits, using biscuit mix and milk. Combine. Roll dough ½-inch thick; cut biscuits; place on bottom of pan, being sure both chicken and biscuits remain in a single layer. Bake another 15 minutes, or until biscuits are lightly brown and chicken is tender.

Lemon Barbecue Chicken

One chicken, salt, pepper, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¾ cup lemon sauce.

Have chicken drawn and cut into serving pieces, or, if quick-frozen, thaw according to directions on the box. Rinse in cold water and dry. Season with salt and pepper. Melt butter or margarine in skillet and brown chicken, skin-side down. Turn and brown.

Pour Lemon Sauce over chicken pieces. Cover and cook slowly until tender, about 30 to 40 minutes. Arrange chicken on platter and pour sauce over pieces.

Lemon Sauce (Yield: ¾ cup)

One small clove garlic, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup salad oil, ½ cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons grated onion, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ½ teaspoon black pepper, ½ teaspoon dried thyme.

Mash garlic clove with salt in a bowl. Add remaining ingredients

Meal with a party air for any-day eating is this easy oven-fried, chicken-and-biscuits dish. And it's also a work-saving taste-tempter to serve to company.

and mix together. If possible, allow sauce to stand overnight to blend flavors before using.

Note: Use a heavy aluminum or stainless-steel skillet for Lemon Barbecue Chicken.

Fairview Breezes

We were blessed with another good rain Monday and Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Don Stoneberg and son, Gerry, of Fort Worth came in to visit with the Frank Rogers family Monday. Enroute they had a rare experience. They got stuck in the mud and had to call Frank to come get them. They spent Thursday night with Mrs. Stoneberg's father, Bill Gazzaway, in Happy then left for home Friday. Don is in Africa on a two months' assignment with the Air Force.

Hollis Shipman was in Amarillo Tuesday on business.

Those enjoying "88" in the Frank Rogers home Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley and Lavena Amerson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wesley and Susie visited Sunday in the parental J. W. Wesley home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wesley and Susie attended the funeral of Mrs. Wesley's uncle at Gothaite Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley visited Thursday in the D. L. Whitson home in Littlefield.

Rev. Earl Landtroop preached for us Sunday morning but evening services were dismissed so that the people of this community could attend baccalaureate services in Happy that evening.

We are very proud of Bettie Sue Patterson as she won valedictorian honors of the senior class in Happy.

Arlen Wesley, who will be out of school at Tech the 26th of May, plans to work for his grandfather on the farm this summer.

We received 20 of rain Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley were in Canyon on business Monday.

H. H. Shipman visited in the Woodrow Wesley home Thursday.

Mrs. Serena Bryan was released from the hospital a week ago last Wednesday after having been put in a brace.

Fairview Home Demonstration Club will meet with Mrs. Charles Sutton.

We hear that Randall County is to have a new Home Demonstrator who will take office the 4th of June.

MRS. MARY CROSON IS HOSTESS TO CANYON MOTHER-IN-LAW

Members and guests of the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club were guests in the home of Mrs. Mary Croson at regular meeting on the 12th of May.

Mrs. H. C. Gentry, president, opened the meeting by having the group sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Mrs. Fain gave the devotional reading, Proverbs 2:1-9 after which The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. W. I. Wester conducted the program which consisted of an interesting talk about mother and daddy by Mrs. A. C. Hudson. Each member told something most impressive on her mind about her mother.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Croson and her co-hostesses, Mesdames R. T. Bowman, Bessie Eby, Myrtle Stratton and C. W. Dunn to Mesdames Mary Burtz, Fain, Hudson, G. B. Combs, Addie Hefner, E. C. Hawes, Tommie Burgess, G. W. Webb, Gentry, R. E. Foster.

I. M. Steen, R. D. Lowry, G. W. Cox, W. S. Myers, W. G. Rose, J. L. Moore, E. C. Penick, T. V. Slack, Wester, E. Gidden, Myrtle McLaughlin, members, and Lela V. Gilbert and Lewis Harvey, visitors.

Today's Inspection Life Protection

"Today's inspection is tomorrow's protection!"

In these words, E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president, Texas Safety Association, Inc., summed up the thinking behind the vehicle safety check program which is recommended by the Texas Safety Association, Department of Public Safety and National Safety Council.

The purpose of this program is to convince every driver in the community that it is extremely important to have his car safety checked periodically," Mr. McFadden said.

He warned that brakes that don't take hold at a critical moment, a tire that blows out as you're rounding a difficult curve, or windshield wipers that don't function properly in a sudden downpour can cause a serious accident.

"The only way you can be sure your car is in safe operating condition," McFadden said, "is to have it safety checked at regular intervals." Such checks, he said, should include the 10 items recommended in the vehicle safety check program. They are: brakes, headlights, rear and stop lights, tires, wheel alignment, exhaust system and muffler, windshield wipers, glass, horn and rear-view mirror.

"The most skilled driver in the world can't drive safely in an unsafe car," McFadden said. He urged all Texas drivers to take no chances, but to have their cars checked as often as necessary.

PRACTICE ON TEACHER

Oklahoma City, Okla. — Miss Jean Priebe, instructor of surgical nursing at University Hospital, started her orthopedic nursing class with lectures on how to care for patients with broken bones. She then provided them with a patient to practice on—herself—she broke her leg in a student faculty softball game.

EMBALMED CATS

Buffalo, N. Y. — Bayard Martin, 65-year-old scion of an "old and respected Buffalo family," was found by police to have embalmed his pet cats as they died and kept them in his home. The officers found 42 live cats and 75 dead ones in Martin's home. The SPCA took charge of both live and dead animals.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Loudder are leaving Friday for Castroville to visit their son, Debs, who is attending Moye Military School there.

Too Many Folks Put Off Getting Birth Certificate

AUSTIN: Most people are partial to months of late summer and fall. But not State Health Department birth record keepers.

To the staff of the department's Bureau of Vital Statistics, August through October is the roughest time of the year.

The reason: parents who know their children must have birth certificates before they can enter school for the first time but who put off making requests for certified copies until the last minute.

Last year bureau personnel processed more than 40,000 requests during those three months. For a limited staff, that means hours of night and week-end work without overtime pay.

Bureau personnel shudder when they think of the estimated 227,000 kids who will be eligible to enter the first grade in September.

Many of them have copies of birth records already and will create no problem. Others live in areas where local school boards do not require proof of age before admitting the child to the hallowed halls of learning.

But the majority don't have certified proof of age, despite the fact that they live in areas where school officials insist on such proof. It's this category that gives statisticians and clerks sleepless nights.

Says Bureau Director W. D. Carroll: "We're ready to give immediate service to applications which come in before the fall rush."

Carroll, a long-time veteran of vital statistics work, directs the affairs of the bureau where more than ten million birth and death records—some dating back to early 1903—are on file.

Several hundred parents have already taken advantage of the spring lull in bureau activities by requesting and receiving certified copies of birth records for their children, Carroll says.

The first one came in on March 24 from Mr. and Mrs. Alvin M. King of Port Lavaca. Their son is due to enter the first grade in September. They wanted to make sure they could prove he is six.

"All we need is the child's name and date and place of birth, and the mother's maiden name and the name of the father," Carroll said. That information, together with the statutory fee of 50 cents, will buy anyone a copy of their birth certificate—provided the bureau has the certificate on file.

There's just one more thing: if you don't want to write to Austin, check with your local registrar. Chances are he can supply the record for you.

In either case, do it soon. That fall bind can get mighty tight.

Disabled Persons Should Confer Social Security

If you have been totally disabled for more than six months or become disabled in the future, and have engaged in Social Security covered work for a substantial period of time, you should apply for a "freeze" to protect your benefit rights.

This part of the Federal Social Security law protects your insurance rights while you are totally disabled. It does not provide cash disability payments. Your earnings record may be "frozen" if:

(1) You have a disability which has lasted more than six months, is expected to continue indefinitely, and keeps you from doing any substantially gainful activity.

(2) You worked in a job covered by the social security law for five of the last ten years before you were disabled, of which 1½ were during the last three years before you were disabled.

An application made by a disabled person can establish a period of disability as far back as the total disability actually began (but not earlier than October 1941).

providing the disability still exists. After June 30, 1957, the application can go back for only one year.

If you are already receiving old-age payments, but you were totally disabled for an extended period before reaching 65, and are still disabled, your benefit may be refigured to see whether the new disability provisions would increase your benefit amount. No benefits can be increased under these provisions before July 1955.

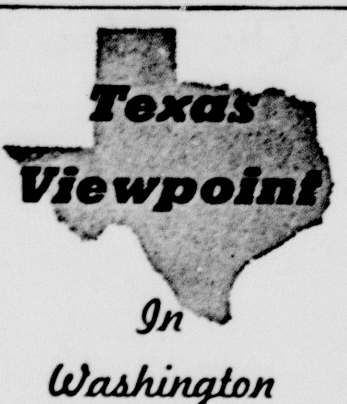

Inquiries regarding filing or for further information should be sent to the Social Security District Office, Amarillo, Texas.

Young Jon Michael Browder,

By PRICE DANIEL
U. S. Senator

The Senate last week recognized the 20th anniversary of the establishment of the Rural Electrification Administration. Texas leads the nation in the number of farms served by electricity and in total miles of rural electric lines. Twenty years ago when REA began, less than three out of every 100 Texas farms had electricity. Today 90 out of every 100 farms in Texas have this service. Before REA, 11,466 farms were served by electricity in Texas. Today more than 292,000 farms are enjoying the benefits of electricity supplied by cooperatives under the REA program.

Texas electric cooperatives have repaid $31 million in principal on the loans secured through the REA. $4 million of which has been in advance of the due date. $17½ million of interest has been paid the Federal Government, and there are practically no delinquencies on loans and interest payments. This is an impressive record.

Locally Owned

Although the Federal Government through the REA and its loans to cooperative plays an important role in the development of this program, the facilities of the cooperatives are owned by the persons whose homes and farms are benefited by the supply of electricity. The local owners, officers and managers of these organizations deserve great credit for their accomplishments.

The program stands now as an eloquent testimonial to the good that can be accomplished through genuine cooperation between the people and their government, when the government truly serves the people and does not attempt to reduce them to servitude. This valuable working alliance must not be tampered with and it must not be handicapped by actions or attitudes here in Washington.

Senate Hearings on Natural Gas
Hearings have been completed in the House and are now in full swing in the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee on legislation to eliminate federal control of the price independent producers may charge for natural gas. As a member of the Senate Committee, I am participating in the hearings. The proponents have made out a good case, and now we are hearing the opponents who fear that a free and competitive industry will mean higher prices for consumers in non-producing States.

Actually, the price which the producer receives for natural gas is a very small part of the cost to the people who use the gas piped from Texas into cities of the North and East. It amounts to only ten per cent of consumer cost. Several Texans have appeared before the committee in favor of the bill to exempt independent producers from federal control. General Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission, who is highly respected in Washington as the nation's outstanding authority on conservation of oil and gas, made an excellent witness, as usual. So did David Searls, Houston attorney. Others, including C. H. Zachary of Dallas and A. P. King, Jr., of Houston, will appear later or file statements.

Appropriations for Texas Projects
The Civil Functions Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee started hearings last week on funds for Texas projects. Funds have been recommended in the President's budget for two Corpus Christi projects—removal of the traffic "bottleneck" by replacing the Bascule Bridge over the harbor entrance, and extension of the Tule Lake Channel in the Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway. We appeared in behalf of these and other Texas projects, which included Colorado River Channel to Bay City, Guadalupe River Channel to Victoria, Galveston Seawall extension, Waco Dam and Reservoir, Trinity River development, and Dallas Floodway.

Armed Forces Day

ARMED FORCES PRESS SERVICE

AMARILLO AIR FORCE BASE:
The gates of Amarillo Air Force Base, home of the world's largest jet airplane training school, will swing open this Saturday, Armed Forces Day, to visitors from all parts of the Panhandle. The celebration will begin at 1 p. m., May 21, will continue until 5 p. m., and will last through Sunday, May 22, from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Visitors will see on exhibit the B-47 long range jet bomber; the F-100 Super Sabrejet; the F-84 Thunderjet and F-86 Sabrejet which won fame during the Korean air fighting; latest types of gunnery, radar and communications equipment; an aerial flyover of precision maneuvers. At 3 p. m., a massive parade of 2,000 Air Force, Navy, Marine, and Texas National Guard troops will pass in review, with bands, drum and bugle corps, and colors of participating units. Following the review, the Hon. Frank Millard, General Counsel, U. S. Army, will speak on the importance of air power in insuring world peace.

Guided tours have been arranged for visitors to see such base facilities as food service and dining halls, service club activities, hobby shops, athletic and recreation facilities and the MARS radio station. A snack bar and refreshment stands will operate at convenient locations throughout the display areas.

Amarillo Air Force Base is located on Highway 60 and 66 ten

Obsolete Roads Threaten Nation's Progress

ACTION BY CONGRESS NOW NEEDED

- TO SPEED MODERNIZATION OF INTERSTATE HIGHWAYS
- TO INSURE CONTINUATION OF FEDERAL AID

Strong Federal leadership will help highway agencies at all levels of government do their part in providing facilities essential to safety, economic growth and the national defense

The survival of every man, woman and child in the United States is affected, directly and indirectly, by the state of the nation's roads. The plain truth is that our present roads are woefully inadequate. Most of them are obsolete. They were not designed to meet the ever increasing traffic volume and accommodate modern speeds. Their deficiencies are contributing to the steadily rising accident rate with its shocking toll of death on the highways.

According to the Highways for Survival Committee, whose non-partisan purpose is to campaign for better roads and get the job done as quickly as possible, the country's need for roads is so great that, without them, America faces the threat of economic strangulation.

Individuals from every working group in the nation are urging their legislative leaders to support the proposal currently before Congress for the Federal Government to assume virtually the full cost of the interstate highway system, while continuing the existing record-high levels of Federal aid to all other roads.

The importance of good roads to the farmer can hardly be exaggerated. Fifty-one per cent of all fruits and vegetables arrive at wholesale produce markets by truck. Seventy-six per cent of all livestock comes to market by truck. All told, 89 per cent of farm products now reach their markets by highways.

One out of every seven American jobs is in the field of highway transportation and highway transportation industries employ over 9.7 million people.

Consumers spend more than $38 billion every year to own and operate their cars. About 60 per cent of all spending units own automobiles and they buy goods that are delivered to their doors via the highways and streets.

Sixty-six million Americans each year take vacations by car, and many others go by bus. More than one out of every four school children in the U.S. travel by bus.

Last year the nation's output in goods and services was about $357 billion. Government economic experts estimate that in ten years it should be $500 billion. By that time our estimated population will exceed 180 million and there will be 81 million motor vehicles which will travel 814 billion vehicle-miles in 1965.

President Eisenhower says: "Unless the present rate of highway improvement and development is increased existing traffic jams only faintly foreshadow those of ten years hence."

Aside from the compelling economic considerations, our highways are the lifelines of national defense. In the event of enemy attack with atom or hydrogen bombs it would be imperative to evacuate as many people as possible from our cities; to bring in food, medical and other critically needed supplies; to disperse essential defense industries and to move large volumes of military traffic. Highways are a necessary means of such transportation.

The Story of 9 Cents That Will Buy Peace of Mind

You can't buy Replacement Insurance on your life — at any price. But now... for the first time in Texas... you can buy it on your home. And for only a few pennies more per $100 of protection than you're paying now for your standard fire and extended coverage insurance.

This new protection for your home which makes "us humans" envious is called the Physical Loss Dwelling Form — the greatest advance in fire insurance in 15 years.

With this Physical Loss Dwelling Form added to your present Fire Insurance Policy, here are some of the things you get:

1. No deduction from your claim for depreciation if you carry insurance equal to 80% of the full replacement value of your home. If a fire, explosion, tornado or hail damages your home, you can get your property completely restored — new for old.
2. Full coverage of damage from vandalism or malicious mischief.
3. Full coverage of losses from theft of integral parts of the building, such as plumbing, etc.
4. Additional Living Expenses (if you have to move out while repairs are being made) or Rental Value (if you're a landlord) up to 10% of the insurance carried.
5. Coverage (less a small deductible) for wind-driven rain; water damage resulting from plumbing, windows, doors, defective roofs and seepage.
6. Coverage (less a small deductible) for freezing damage to plumbing and heating in reasonably safeguarded dwellings.
7. And coverage for numerous other losses — in fact, coverage for any loss not specifically excluded in the form. And these exceptions are generally uninsurable ones, anyway; excluding them helps keep the cost of this valuable policy down to a reasonable level.

Best of all, the additional coverages above — plus many, many others — can be yours for only 9¢ additional for each $100 of protection you now carry on your home.

Call your Local Agent today. Let him explain how the dependable, old line Capital Stock Companies he represents can give you a bargain in this new "peace of mind" insurance.

Last Sunday morning a friend gave us some pansies. She already had them gathered when we arrived and they were arranged in nine shallow pans and bowls on the dining table. With their pixie-like faces smiling up at us, they made a pretty sight — clear lemon yellow, tawny brown, lavender, orchid, purple, white, even deep rich red. So pretty and so vital, they almost seemed ready to talk.

Flowers do speak a universal language. Not long ago we were at lunch with a dozen women who hardly knew each other and had little in common. But someone mentioned spring flowers and soon there was an easy, relaxed smile on every face. Some were gardeners and some were not, but every woman loves the clear, true colors and delicate modeling of a blossom, whether it's a geranium or a rose.

At a party last night the spouse and a woman whom we knew only slightly talked peonies for half an hour or more. "Which side of the house do you plant them on?" "How deep?" "Do they take much care?" Color, cost, time of year — there's so much to say about a plant if you're a real gardener, not just an armchair lover of its fruits.

The green thumb still remains a mystery to us. Rarely does a family have two, and there's no saying whether it's going to belong to the woman or the man of the house. But those who have it are a happy lot. And those who live with it are happy, too. For not only do they have a pretty yard, and flowers to grace the house when company's coming in. Quite likely they've got a very nice person for a housemate, for one who loves flowers is likely to see and appreciate beauty wherever it appears.

Senator Knowland Seems To Be On His Way Out as GOP Leader

WASHINGTON: Minority Leader William Knowland, California's senior Senator, may be under pressure to resign his leadership of the GOP in the upper Capitol body if the present divergence between his foreign policy views and those of the Eisenhower Administration remains, come the new Congress in 1957.

Seldom has a party leader in the Senate spoken out more bluntly against his own President and State Department than has Knowland in the past 18 months. He has also indirectly rebuked the President on other matters.

Even though Mr. Eisenhower is noted for his patience, which won for him when Joe McCarthy, Wisconsin Senator, was badgering the President a year ago, sharply and often, he could come to the conclusion that he will never get anywhere with his program in the Senate unless he has a man pushing it who supports it.

Knowland disagrees with too much of the President's broad viewpoint to make a desirable party leader to Ike in the Senate. But since the Senate itself elects its party leaders, that question will be up to Senators when the 85th Congress convenes January a year.

Already there is dissatisfaction with Knowland's handling of the President's program, but there is also strong support for his criticisms among the bloc in the Senate, within the GOP, who are more conservative than Mr. Eisenhower, and who are not hesitant about differing with the President publicly.

Mr. Eisenhower need not press the issue at the moment. The Democrats are in control of the Senate and they will have more to do with what gets through that body than will the Republicans. It is quite possible that the Democrats will again be in control when the 85th Congress meets, even if the President runs again and is elected, because circumstances favor the Democrats in the races which come off in 1956 for that body.

But whether they are or not, there may be strong sentiment within GOP Senate ranks in favor of having a leader who sees eye to eye with the President, especially if that President has just been returned to office by the vote of the people. It would be Mr. Eisenhower's last term of office, too, and he could not afford to wait any longer to make every effort to get most of his program through Congress.

Predict That President May Not Be Able to Hold Senate for GOP in '56

By STANLEY JAMES
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON: President Eisenhower is getting accustomed to dealing with Democrats on legislative matters and it may be just as well. For even if the President is inclined to run again, he faces a tough job in seeking to help his party recapture the Senate next year.

The present party strength of the upper legislative body is 49 to 47 in favor of the Democrats. That, admittedly, is not too much of a margin.

But the races which come off next year give a decided edge to the Democrats. Most of the Democratic seats becoming vacant are in solid Democratic territory while many of the Republican seats opening up for an election decision are not safely Republican at all.

Only a few Democratic seats becoming vacant next year offer the Republicans a chance to gain. So, the Democrats have many possible gains to work on while the Republicans have very few possibilities to concentrate on.

This brings up the prospect that Mr. Eisenhower—if elected again—might again have a Senate in Democratic hands to deal with. (He has a very good chance of winning a GOP House if he is re-elected.) This would mean that the President would have only two years left—in his entire two four-year terms—in which he might enjoy a Republican majority in the Senate.

And to have that majority in the upper body the Republicans would have to win an off-year election—another hard thing to do. All of which shows that there is a very strong possibility, though not a probability, that Mr. Eisenhower, even if elected again next year, has seen his last Republican controlled Senate on Capitol Hill.

MONEY MAKES BOY BIG SHOT

New York. — Henry Morales, 7, appeared at school the other day and began handing out money in large quantities to his "special" friends. One boy, who received a $20 bill, hurried to a candy store where he ordered a penny piece of bubble gum and presented the big bill. An investigation led directly to Henry, who came clean immediately. He had taken the money from his grandfather, who had just arrived from Puerto Rico. The bankroll, containing $3,940, was retrieved and the grandfather was persuaded to deposit his savings in a bank.

CARELESS DRIVING IS KID STUFF

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is getting to be more than passing concern in Washington with the amount of consumer credit spending.

While a policy of consumer credit has been adopted by administration to help sale of homes, automobiles, major appliances and other capital goods purchased, concern is over what is called "the permanent hock" plans.

In bigger cities a few big chain department stores some time ago inaugurated what is known as "revolving credit" plans. For self-protection, even independently owned department stores have had to follow suit.

The method is quite simple. A customer, for example, on a $100 plan pays the store $10 every month, and the customer can keep the account up to $100, or whatever limit is decided upon for purchase of anything from bobby pins to grand pianos.

The public is told for this convenience a small service charge is made. In most cases this "small service charge" amounts to 1% per month.

Periodically, a big store sells its accounts receivable either to a large financial institution, or to its own chain headquarters. As store guarantees collection of accounts, interest rate is about 3% annually, or ¼ of 1% per month. Thus the store makes an additional ¼ of 1% per month or 9% per year.

Thus, in course of a year, for privilege of continually being "in hock" to the store for $100, customer pays a "small service charge" of $12 on each $100.

Yet in most states where loan interest rates are controlled, customer could secure money from a personal loan company at a cost of only $9.75 for the year, and if customer has a good credit record, from a local bank for about $6 per year.

In studying this situation, Washington is concerned on two fronts. One is public policy, the other is effect on small retailers.

From standpoint of public policy, grave question arises as to whether bobby pins should be purchased on the installment plan. In fact, with many department stores operating liquor departments, this is tantamount to selling liquor on installment plan which has long been held contrary to best public policy.

It is also quite obvious that average family, tied down to making regular monthly installment payments to one or more big chain department stores, are in no financial position to take advantage of offerings of independent stores. Thus, it might be said that through bait of "easy low credit terms" big houses are making captives of consumers, thus blocking normal flow of commerce.

There is also the question of overall policy. Should a retail organization be permitted to engage in the personal loan business, which is all that the so-called revolving plans amount to. And if chain department stores are engaged in the personal loan business, should they not be subject to the same rules and regulations, including permissible rates of interest, under which personal loan organizations operate? As states regulate personal loan firms, should states or Congress attack problem? It appears action will be taken but it will be interesting to see on which level.
